It's the kid who hates giving presentations in class, but still puts their all into it whenever they have to give one. It's the student who isn't sure of the answer, but still raises their hand and makes a guess. It's the athlete who takes a shot even though they might miss. It's the actor who tries out for the role, even though they're scared they might not make the cut.

It's each and every one of us who does something that's different, or that might be a risk, or that we are scared of.

What is it, you might ask?

Vacations

From sunny beaches to adventurous cities, students traveled to many different places this summer.

Isabella Elliott ’26 traveled through Europe with the school’s language department, visiting Italy, France, Monaco and Spain. While each stop offered unique experiences, it was Barcelona that stood out to her most.

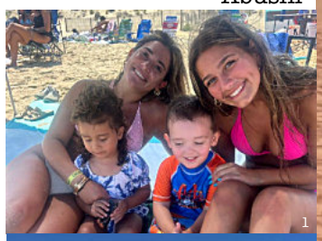

“My favorite place that I visited was Barcelona because it was very pretty and fun to try different foods and walk around the towns,” Elliott said. “We met these British boys, and now we’re meeting up with them in a year when they come to the U.S.”

Zachariah Girton ’26 spent his summer at Ocean City, where every day was filled with friends, beach games and new activities.

“We would go to the beach and play Spikeball and meet new people,” Girton said. “We went wakeboarding and parasailing, and it was my first time. It looked so cool to be so high in the sky, and it was a really nice view.” Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Rama Abushi '26 and her family traveled to Jordan and Egypt. "This summer I went to Jordan... because that’s where most of my family lives. I go there every summer and I really enjoy getting to spend time with my family. I also went to Egypt... because my cousins have a beach house there," Abushi said. Photo By: Rama Abushi

"It was fun to hand out water with my friends and encourage the runners in their race. We got there early but it was worth it to be able to help out."

COOPER ALAVHERDIAN '25

“Nationals was in Des Moines, Iowa… It’s really cool to travel all over the country to compete against the best. It’s fun for me to race and give it my all. It keeps bringing me back for more and makes me want to train harder.”

LEO HAVENS '25

STUDENT PERFORMERS

The talents of students can be seen in their bands, dances and other forms of art.

"I performed in Youth American Grand Prix in Philadelphia. I love to dance and perform."

KASSIA GAUTREAU '26

"I really like playing my saxophone in R n' R. I play music because it is fun to play with my friends and have a creative outlet."

OWEN BLACKBURN '25

"I don't really perform a lot in school but I do perform a lot outside school. I also performed in the Fourth of July parade."

KELSEY BEGIN '27

"Dancing is my ultimate passion; it's where I find pure joy and freedom. Every moment feels like a conversation between my body and the music. It's not just a hobby, but a way of life that brings me immense happiness and fulfillment."

Students went to many concerts over the summer.

"I've been to a few. I've been to James Arthur, Tate McRae, Zedd and Tyler Childers. They were all really good concerts. I love going with my friends and just having a blast, listening to the music. Overall it's a really fun experience," Sol Cingolani '26 said.

Those who went made great memories, hearing their favorite songs with friends and family.

"I went to see Noah Kahan in concert at Nashville, Tennessee in May. I went with my best friend and he put on a great show. My favorite songs were 'The View Between Villages,' 'Maine' and 'Call Your Mom.' We went together because we've always talked about seeing him together and hearing him live," Charli Amplo '26 said.

Where will seniors be... in 10 years?

“In 10 years I see myself opening a business with maybe one or two friends, a big business worth hopefully at least a million dollars in revenue. My business would maybe be like power washing or hopefully invent a new invention that would help people every day and I would love to go on Shark Tank and present my idea, and hopefully get an offer from Mark Cuban. I see myself living in Florida in a mansion with maybe one or two kids and a beautiful wife.”

Brandon Thomas '25

"In 10 years I see myself owning my own mechanic shop and running it. I work in a mechanic shop right now, I'm an apprentice learning from master mechanics and stuff like that. I'm going to keep working hard and keep building in the field. I'm thinking about going to trade school to be a diesel technician.”

Justice Spiker '25

"In 10 years, I see myself performing on Broadway and living my dream in musical theatre. I’d also love to teach and mentor young performers, sharing what I’ve learned along the way."

Jenna Augustine '25

“In 10 years hopefully I'll have graduated from college and gotten a major in criminal justice and have a job in an agency of some kind. I was looking at internships I could do over the summer before I go to college. Right now I'm taking classes at the community college next semester and I've taken college AP classes here and I took a criminal justice class.”

"I'm gonna go to college and I hope to get a lot of in-person experience, I'm already working at a job with children so I'm getting some of that. And so I just hope to get more of the psychology aspect and statistics is probably really helpful for psychology."

Elle Hollands '25

"Well, I've been doing research on healthy living and stuff. I definitely go out of my way to become more immersed on the topic. And I've been looking at internships as well as where I'm going to college. I'm looking at a lot of Florida schools, but I'm definitely trying to look at internships as well. I think I definitely want an internship at a gym or something. I think owning my own gym would be really cool."

Austin Ledford '25

"In 10 years I want to travel the world in my twenties settled down and get a good paying job and hopefully find the love of my life and get married to her at the age of around 28 and start a family."

Cole Earhart '25

“I really like a lot of editorial stuff so probably doing a job with that. Whether it’s just like camera work or anything really. I like cinematography or maybe just like photography. I really like designing shots and stuff like that and kind of putting stuff together.”

Many students spend their summer on the water, whether it's fishing or spending time on the beach.

“I do a lot of boating activities and fishing. I love being out on the water in the morning, hanging out with friends and just having a good time,” Ashton Cristallo ‘25 said.

Many enjoy their fun activities with their family and friends.

“I like to go boating a lot with my family on the weekends. I also really enjoy going water skiing. It's super fun. I also really like to go tubing with my friends,” Addison Glebocki ‘25 said.

Spending time on the water creates fun memories with your friends and family.

“Me and my friends do a lot of boating together. We really like to go tubing, wakeboarding and surfing. A lot of times me and my friends will go out on my boat and go to Dobbins Island and eat lunch and have fun,” Jordan McKinstry ‘25 said.

Fun in the Sun

One of the things that people like most about the summer is the warm weather, and the activities that come with it. Pastimes like swimming or traveling are popular with students over the summer.

“During the summer me and my friend Lainey go to the beach,” Julia Brewer ‘26 said. “We usually go to the Outer Banks or Ocean City. I love going in the water and swimming, going to dinner and tanning, it's always a fun time.”

Students also take advantage of the opportunity to be outside in the warm sun while enjoying activities that are not specific to summer.

“In the summer I like hanging out with my friends like Dillon Autry and Hayden Ignacio. We always get down into it, doing average, day-to-day, basic stuff with the boys. We play basketball and football a lot, it's my favorite thing to do,” Max Drexler ‘26 said. Story By: Alethia Brown

LETTERS OF REC

Seniors start college applications with letters of recommendation.

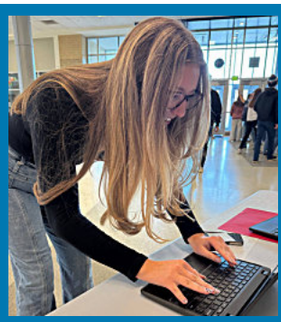

" I asked Mr. Dunbar and Coach Dean to write my letters of recommendation. They have been some of my biggest supporters since my freshman year."

CHARLOTTE COWARD '25

"I asked Ms. Harrington and Mrs. Poole for letters of recommendation because they were two of my favorite teachers."

JAMES ANGUAY '25

"I asked my business teacher Ms. Colon to write my letter of recommendation, because I took a lot of her classes and she was really impactful throughout my high school career."

ISABELLA OPLADEN '25

"I asked Mrs. Sasse and Mr. Gorrick. Mrs. Sasse's been my math teacher for two years and Mr. Gorrick's always been cool."

One of the most popular times for students to find jobs is the summer. “I worked at Shipley’s Choice. They had a program called Camp Success there and I was a camp counselor for it,” Maggie Moran '25 said.

These summer jobs aren’t always just for the summer, though the free time available certainly makes it easier to work. “I work at American Eagle at the Annapolis Mall. I help out customers, style them,” Jonah Darcy '26 said. “I will be continuing this job during the school year; I will probably be working after school some days and on the weekends.”

Summer jobs can be difficult, just like any other jobs, but certain skills can help you. “I would tell people trying to find a job to be patient and understanding with others because you do have to cooperate. Also, you aren’t going to have fun all the time but try to enjoy it as much as possible,” Emma Rogers '25 said. Story By: Alethia Brown

This summer, students worked hard to help their communities in meaningful ways. Through service, they have shown how acts of kindness can have a big impact on a community.

Abigail Dugenske ‘27 spent her summer helping people in need. “Not only is it helping my community, but it helps people on a deeper meaning,” Dugenske said. “It can help people just like, make their day better...”

Paige Williams ‘28 helped run a summer camp for children, where she taught them how to handle mental health issues better. “I liked making connections with other people in the community,” Williams said.

Scarlett Ligon ‘27 volunteered at school for club events. “...Doing things like helping out at the games this year and talking to my teachers, trying to help them organize whatever they need... that's always nice because you can get more involved. You see different perspectives and it helps learning skills like organization,” Ligon said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Summer Tryouts

Students started their summer by showing off their skills during sports tryouts. From cross country to football, athletes gave it their all to earn a spot on the team.

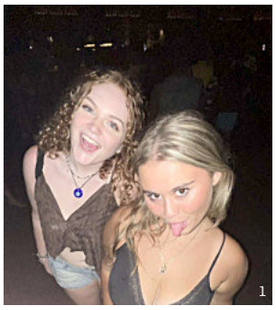

Kaylie Montagne '27 tried out for cross country. "It was very fun," Montagne said. "I got to experience a bunch of fun things with my friends. The coaches were really nice. Overall, a good experience."

Anya Diggs '27 also participated in cross-country tryouts. "It was before school started, so it was definitely a little weird to be at school so early in the summer. But I had been going to workouts to prepare, so I felt ready. We had two days on the track, and it was really hot."

Despite the summer heat, Diggs is confident about the team. "We have a lot of good coaches and a lot of good athletes, so it's always a great experience to try out." Athletes are ready to bring their best to the field, track, and court. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

For the students, visiting colleges is an exciting experience that makes them imagine their futures. It helps them find a school or a major that interests them.

Peter Judge '25 had the chance to visit the United States Coast Guard Academy in New London, Connecticut. His interest in naval architecture and sailing drew him to the academy, which also has a strong sailing team. "I thought it was great. I really liked it. It's a really nice campus. It's on the side of a hill in New London, Connecticut, overlooking a big river. I really like the views," Judge said. "The [sailing] coach gave me a letter of assurance. It's a really big honor to be given that and I'm super excited."

These visits help students see their futures and make informed decisions about where to study. Payton Jeffers '25 visited the University of Tampa in the summer.

"I loved it. I knew as soon as I went, 'This is where I'm going.' I love the warm weather, and just being on campus is so relaxing and makes it really welcoming for everyone. It's just a beautiful campus. I'm actually going there for lacrosse and I'm majoring in Bio Chemistry," Jeffers said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Every year, the seniors start their first day of school by watching the sunrise in the parking lot. Students arrive at school early, bring breakfast, and hang out with their friends before school.

"It was fun to be able to be with my friends at the beginning of our last year together," Lola Alpert '25 said.

In addition, on Aug. 23 the class of 2025 sponsored a senior sunrise before school started on the football field.

“It was good overall, I was there with my friends. It was fun. I’d say it was set up well. It was chill. There were blankets and stuff and it was nice. I was kind of just hanging out with my friends the whole time. There was food and stuff, I think I grabbed a little bit but other than that I just chilled and hung out with my friends,” Pierce Brenner ‘25 said.

Freshman first day was on Aug. 26, followed by the first day for all other students on Aug. 27. On their first day, freshmen attended an assembly, received tours of the building from student volunteers, learned about different clubs and went to all of their classes.

"Well, since I'm a freshman I went in a day earlier than everyone else," Hannah Satterfield '28 said. "I got to go to all my A day classes, lunch and then all my B day classes. We got to see all the clubs. Overall I think it was a great introduction to the school since I got to meet everyone and get used to everything."

For other students, the first day back was a normal day, which was both positive and negative for some students.

"My first day of school... I didn't really do much, not a lot of work, no homework, so it was pretty easy," Zac Tambascio '25 said. "I wasn't really nervous, just dreaded it, but I was still excited to see my friends, because I haven't seen them in a while so it was kind of good getting back. I enjoyed making new friendships like my friend Isaiah; he's a great guy." Story By: Alethia Brown

"My first day of school went really well. I woke up early, excited to start the day, and made sure to wear a nice outfit to kick off the year feeling confident. My schedule was packed, and I got to meet some great teachers."

PEYTON STRONG '27

"My friends and I signed up to help … we made signs, did tours and honestly it was really fun to meet all the freshmen… as well as explain to them where the stuff in the school is because it's a really big and confusing school."

AVA GILMAN '25

"Participating in freshmen orientation was a lot of fun, being able to see new students come to the school. I had a lot of fun sharing what I enjoy about high school with new people and I appreciate how eager people are to join clubs."

OWEN CRESS '25

"The first day of school for me was very good, it was super fun. We did a bunch of different activities and it was a great experience and it was fun finding new friends in all my different classes and just meeting new people."

On Sept. 12, Leadership 1 students spent time at Arlington Echo learning teamwork and leadership skills. The program inspired students to work in a team as they participated in a variety of activities designed to improve trust and communication, to strengthen their bonds and to develop their leadership skills. “Arlington Echo was super fun. I learned a lot of techniques to use with friends," Kendall Bishop '27 said. "We all worked together to build trust. It was a great trip to bring us all together and work with people I haven’t worked with before.” At Arlington Echo, students gained new perspectives and skills that will guide them as leaders in their school. “It was a really good team-building experience," Holly Braughton '27 said. "It gave me a lot of good ideas on how to interact with the team and being an efficient leader. We did a lot of obstacle courses out in the woods that required hands-on activities involving all of the students.” Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

ART ON THE WALLS

Artists showcase their projects in the hallways to decorate the school.

"In my artwork I used shapes of all different kinds, like circles, triangles, and then transferred it… It was pretty hard to draw and it took a long time for me, maybe about three hours, however I had so much fun completing my project…"

KYLE VICAN '27

"I made a metamorphosis project of transforming a gas can into a giraffe… It was very time-consuming and pretty difficult to think of different ways to make the transition smoother."

CHARLEY BAILIE '26

"The pose is inspired by 'The Fallen Angel' painting of Lucifer, which is my favorite painting ever. Then following that theme, I used… that Gothic, almost cathedral, feeling because that theme is just generally one of my favorites."

JAYDEN PARR '25

"I got that bird in Costa Rica with my family and it means a lot to me because I had a really fun time there. The bird has some core memories attached to it… It was really fun to take the photos because we got to wander around outside."

On Nov. 23, students attended a Model United Nations (MUN) conference at Centennial High School. The event gave students the chance to debate historical and political topics, represent different countries and show off their public speaking skills.

Corbin Rolfes '26 participated in the conference. “I was in the German Springtime of Nations, basically, it was a debate. A mock congress about the unification of German states in the early 1800s,” Rolfes said.

Abbie Heath '25 enjoyed the conference. “It was very positive. I really enjoy the community there, and I always meet people that I’ve met before, which is a classic MUN thing in the area because there are only a number of people. Centennial this year was run very well... it’s always a positive experience,” Heath said.

Heath’s efforts paid off, as she won an award too. “I won Outstanding Delegate, which is the second highest award in my committee,” she said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

POWDER PUFF

As the excitement for Homecoming built up, students gathered in the gym for the highly anticipated pep rally. The tradition brings the school together in a show of spirit and pride, setting the stage for an unforgettable Homecoming weekend.

The senior cheerleaders, who spent weeks preparing a routine, led the performance with precision and enthusiasm. “It was a lot of fun,” Laney Deaton ‘25, one of the cheerleaders, said. “A lot of hard work, a lot of planning, especially with the other seniors. We got to make our music and make our routine.”

The football team's cheer performance was also a highlight of the pep rally. The football players, gearing up for their big game, fed off the energy of their classmates and teachers. “It was pretty nice,” football player Cameron Wallace ‘26 said. “I felt the energy from the crowd, students in the crowd, some of the teachers and staff. Everybody was there. We were hyped.”

Performances from the dance team and the marching band added their own flair to the event. Games kept the festivities going, ensuring students left the gym feeling more connected to the school community. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

"What I liked most about the pep rally was performing with my dance friends, dancing together as a team and representing our school…"

MAXINE MENDOZA '26

"I liked being with the team and seeing everyone excited before the game. The pep rally just gets you ready for the game and the dance so it's a lot of fun."

JOHN PAUL MILLER '25

"I mostly enjoyed teaching the guys how to stunt and perform cheerleading, and I also enjoyed getting to know the people that we cheer on every single game."

SERENA SAAB '26

"I like that pep rally really brings the school together, and it gets everyone excited about the game and just the Homecoming dance in general."

Student Section

The student section at football games is often full of people who spend their evening getting together with their friends and watching the game.

“Hanging out with friends and taking photos at the game created long lasting high school memories,” Maggie Byrnes ‘25 said.

These students demonstrate their school spirit by dressing up to fit the themes and cheering on the team.

“The student section at the sports games I go to, they’re so hype. The Homecoming dance on Sept. 28 was a night filled with excitement, friendship and unforgettable memories. From getting ready and taking pictures to dancing in the cafeteria and fast food runs, students made the most of the annual celebration. “It was really fun,” Mary Beisler ’28 said. “I went to McDonald’s after. I went dancing with my friends in the cafeteria.”

Many students made the night special by spending time with their close friends. “I had a lot of fun with my friends,” Allyson Jones ’26 said. “We got ready and took pictures together and then went to the dance and had a lot of fun. We got Taco Bell together. It was a lot of fun, and then we went to my house and slept over.”

As the music played and the lights flashed, students embraced the spirit of homecoming, creating lasting memories with friends. “I really liked it,” Megan McCaskey ’25 said. “I just moved here from Germany over the summer. I went to an American school there, so we had Homecoming there too. It was pretty similar. So yeah, I liked it. I met up with some friends, we took some pictures. Before that, I got ready with some friends and then we just went over.” Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

We played that for like about an hour, maybe a little more and it was a lot of fun," Mann said. Photo By: Legacy

The marching band is a group of students who use talent and hard work to put together shows for halftime during football games and for competitions throughout the fall.

"Probably the competitions [are my favorite part]. I don't know; it's fun to see what different schools do and how they perform. You get to learn from them," Ella Rice '28 said.

The marching band begins their season in the summer with band camp, marching and community building. This is anticipation for the upcoming fall season of half time performances and for band competitions that judge their music, marching and formations.

"Color guard is really fun. It's cool, we get to do our own competitions," Lena Biran '25 said.

In their final years of Leadership, seniors are tasked with creating a project to help their communities. They spend junior year preparing and finally get the payoff in their senior year.

"Me and my partner Josie chose to partner with Binky Patrol, an organization that donates blankets to marginalized children, because we wanted to be creative while helping the community," Natalie Frank '25 said. "I love reaching our goals and seeing the impact every dollar and blanket has on our community."

The Leadership Institute is very special, both to our students and our communities. Encouraging students to not only help those in need, but to lead whole projects is an amazing opportunity, and working towards something real and being able to see the impact is one of the amazing benefits of these charity projects.

Halloween

Halloween was a spooky time this year for our students. They wore great costumes, ate candy and spent time with their friends.

"For this year's Halloween, I dressed up as Willy Wonka. I chose it because it's a character I've always enjoyed, and "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory" has always been one of my favorite movies and a movie I find comfort in," Eftihia Prevezianos '25 said. She handed out candy to trick or treaters. "I really enjoyed talking to the kids and seeing their fun costumes."

The Importance of Voting for Teens

Voting is one of the most important parts of democracy. It gives people a chance to help decide the leaders and laws that shape the future. For teenagers, voting is a chance to have their voices heard on issues that will directly impact their lives. “It is important for a country’s leader to be representative of what the people want. Everyone should educate themselves about the options and make an informed voting decision for the best of the country,” Max Phillips '25 said.

Zach Seebold '25 explained why voting is important, even if one vote seems small. “If everybody held [the view that one vote doesn’t matter], then it wouldn’t really be productive or representative of the views of the nation’s people,” he said.

Brandon Chisholm '25 agrees that young people’s votes matter. “Teens are becoming adults, and it gives them a look at how politics will look in the future. Politicians can learn how to connect with teens, who are the future of the country,” Chisholm said.

Despite its importance, there are barriers that make voting difficult. Seebold suggests that expanding mail-in voting could help those who can’t get to polling places due to time or transportation issues. Chisholm adds that the electoral college makes voters in solid red or blue states feel like their votes don’t count. “It seems like people aren’t voting in majority red or majority blue states because they feel as though they will not be heard,” he said.

Phillips also believes the current system limits the choice of a voter. “Our system makes it nearly impossible to vote outside of your two-party options. Ranked-choice voting is more representative and reduces votes people feel 'go to waste,'” Phillips said.

Teen voices are an important part of shaping the future. “A new age of thought is important because many of our leaders come from a time where our people needed something different that isn’t suiting us now,” Phillips said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Q&A With Mrs. Poole

Q: Do you believe that voting in this country is important? If so, why?

A: Of course. It's the opportunity for people to have their opinions heard. Voting is a civic duty that we should all participate in and take seriously– whether it's for president or county council.

Q: Did you vote in the most recent election? If so, was it easy and would you do it again?

A: I've voted in every election since I turned 18. I voted by absentee ballot in college and when I lived out of the country. This year I voted by mail-in ballot because it's just so easy, but four years ago I actually voted in our school cafeteria with my daughter. It was a great experience to share with her.

Q: Do you believe that the teen vote matters?

A: For sure. Although voters aged 18-24 have notoriously low voter turnout, we've seen that when they turn out they can make a difference. In both 2008 and 2012, the turnout of individuals under 30 made an impact on not just the election of Barack Obama, but had a trickle down effect on individuals running in the state and local elections during those years. In fact, this year, Florida elected the first member of Gen Z to the House of Representatives. Teens should know that their generation is already represented at the national level.

Q: Do you believe that they should lower or raise the age that you need to be in order to vote?

A: So long as we are asking 18 year olds to serve their country in the military, we have to allow them the opportunity to elect the people who send them to war. For that reason I'm a firm believer in the 26th Amendment. I wouldn't raise the age limit.

I believe that less than 10% of the countries of the world have a voting age lower than 18. Those countries have voting ages at 16 or 17. I think 18 is probably fine, but maybe after a debate with a passionate Falcon politico, I might change my mind.

Q: Do you think our voting system is bad/outdated? Do you think that it should be changed?

A: I do actually think the winner-take-all aspect of the electoral college is outdated. While I appreciate the purpose of the electoral college, I think the proportional distribution of electors– like the process of Nebraska and Maine make a lot of sense. I also like rank choice voting, which although confusing to understand at first, can generate a candidate that more of the populace can get behind.

Every year, juniors participate in Poetry Out Loud. “It was a lot of hard work. So it was just one of those things that was in the back of your mind for so many days and nights and just like for weeks on end,” Abbie Chavez ‘26 said.

Though nerve wracking at first, in the end, it was a lot of fun. They were able to express their feelings through their poems. “I felt nervous but embraced the big crowd and just tried my best,” Ben Dryer ‘26 said.

To compete, students had to memorize a poem and recite it to their English class. “I felt great. I worked very hard to remember my poem and went up and recited good enough to be nominated,” Dryer said.

After their classes, contestants were nominated to move on to the next round where they recited their poems to the crowd on Nov. 13. Chavez was picked as the winner and is moving on to Regionals in February. “I will say, I am a bit nervous for the next round because I have to memorize, like, two more poems. I know the process now, so I'm a lot more comfortable with that, so it's just a matter of time,” Chavez said.

Stage Crew

The stage crew plays an important role in the success of events throughout the school year. This year's production of "Catch Me If You Can," for instance, wouldn't have been possible without the hard work of the stage crew. "...it was a fun thing that we were able to see the production going on onstage, while we're still able to engage in backstage activities," Douglas Waters '26 said.

The stage crew's work brings productions to life and creates shows to remember. "It allows you to see kind of what goes in to making an entire production," Waters said. "You don't just see the final product. It also means you get to work with all sorts of people both in tech crew and on cast and in the makeup team. So you get to connect with a lot of people."

This year, the fall musical brought to life "Catch Me If You Can," the true story of Frank Abagnale Jr., a young con artist who travels the world forging checks and escaping the FBI.

"It was a lot of fun," Drew Kessler '25, who played Frank Abagnale Jr., said. "It was a lot of work, but it really paid off because it was fun to spend time with my friends and singing and dancing and doing what I love. Honestly, it was a little stressful because I was also doing college applications. But it was still a lot of fun working with other people."

Kelsey Sparkman '25 played Brenda, Frank's love interest. "It was an amazing experience," Sparkman said. "I feel like... the cast and crew grew into a type of family, spending so many long days in school. We became really close. I feel like I became a lot closer with a lot of people and improved my vocal skills."

This show was especially meaningful for both Kessler and Sparkman since it was their last musical in high school. "I didn't do it freshman year, but I did it sophomore, junior and senior year," Sparkman said. "It was the first time I actually got a role, which was really exciting. It's kinda sad now that we're leaving and I can't do it again." Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

CAST INTERVIEWS

"It's been a super fun experience. I've been able to meet lots of amazing and talented people, and even reunite with a friend through the musical... My favorite part is when I get to watch my cast mates perform while offstage."

ADAM MAHER '28

"It was a wonderful experience to meet new and old friends... My favorite part was tech week where I got to just sing and socialize... I love to entertain and perform in front of others and show people a different side of me."

OWEN PANITZ '27

"I spent my time learning the dances more than anything else. My favorite part of the musical is honestly tech week. I get to spend a week with my favorite people. I was also really curious about this show... so I figured I'd see what it was about."

BELLA HOLMES '26

"It was a lot of fun but also a lot of work. We spent a lot of time working on the music and the dances... I always love when we are able to get up on stage... I've been doing musicals for the last four years and it's always a lot of fun."

This fall, students celebrated the season with cozy traditions and enjoying time with friends. From pumpkin patches to warm coffee shops, they made the most of autumn.

Buket Kuzkaya ’26 spent a fun-filled day with her friends. “We went pumpkin patching,” she said. “We went there and patched pumpkins. And then we went to drink a coffee and enjoyed each other’s company.”

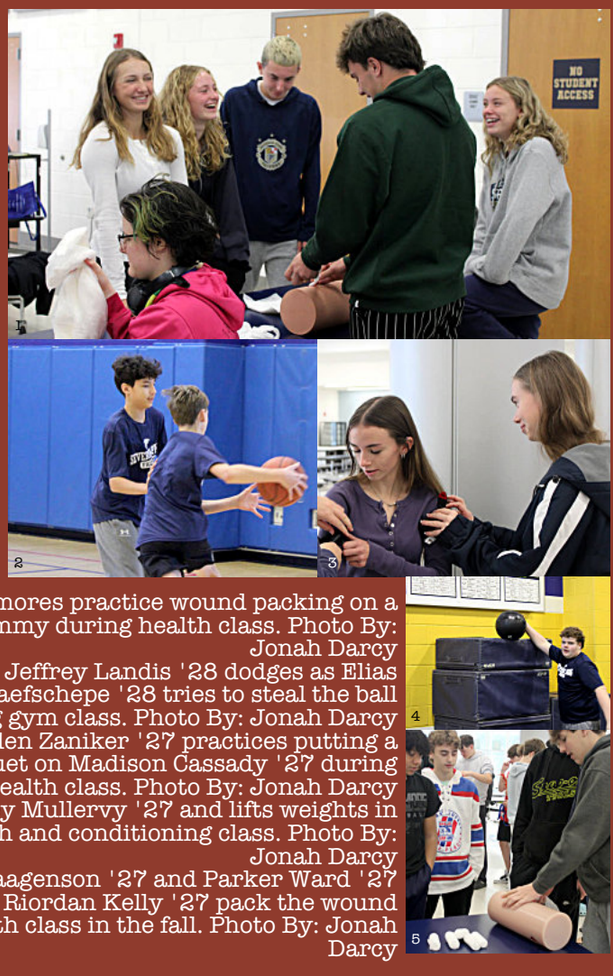

Jasmine Reeve ’26 also had fun during fall, making memories at a local coffee shop. “It was decorated for Halloween and fall. It was very, very cute,” Reeve said. “We drank some nice pumpkin spice lattes. Very yummy.”

Giving Thanks

Thanksgiving is an important holiday in the United States, and it is unique because it's the only country that celebrates it. "As an exchange student from Germany, this year I got to experience my very first Thanksgiving with my host family, and it was truly special... We had a dinner with turkey, stuffing, mashed potatoes and pies. I tried everything and it was delicious," Mathilda Nachtmann '26 said.

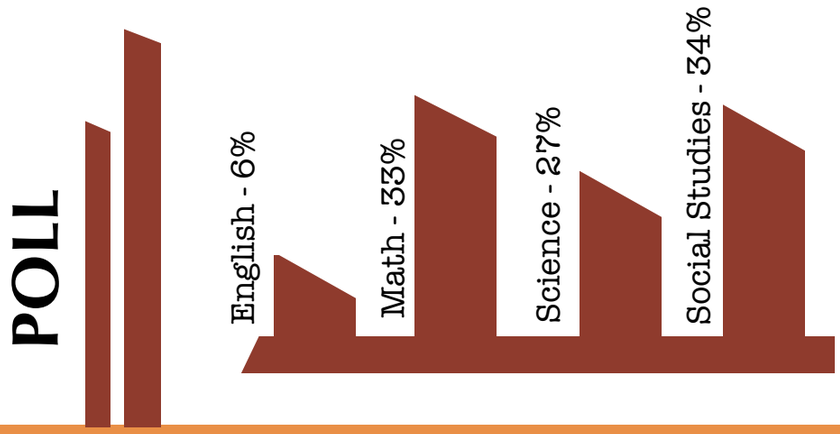

Many students enjoy the opportunity to spend time with both friends and family, and to practice traditions like eating a certain meal or watching football or the Macy's parade. "I spent time with my family over Thanksgiving break. We watched the parade and played games together," Noah Keefer '28 said. Story By: Alethia Brown & Mathilda Nachtmann

This fall, SkillsUSA teamed up with the NFL's Crucial Catch campaign to raise funds and awareness for breast cancer research. Over the course of a week, the club organized school activities and a pink out football game, bringing the community together for a great cause.

"SkillsUSA is a club that helps students develop their abilities for the workplace," Brooke Barnes '26 said. "Crucial Catch was a fundraiser project we worked on to raise money for breast cancer during the school week and at the pink out football game."

The campaign was a huge success, with teachers, administrators, students and the Severna Park community all stepping up to contribute.

"It was fun to raise money and talk to people about what SkillsUSA does and how we are helping raise money for cancer," Barnes said.

The Crucial Catch campaign wasn't just about raising funds. It also showed how students can make a real impact when they come together for a shared purpose. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

On Oct. 26, students learned from businesses at the Entrepreneurial Fair. Representatives from local businesses shared about their work experiences and how their businesses run.

"It was super fun and cool to see all the different businesses, and I learned all about the local businesses in our area," Jenevieve Ghahhari '25 said.

Entrepreneurs were asked to share the story of their business with the students and take questions regarding how their business is operated. This year, 20 different businesses from the community were represented, from local venues to student enterprises.

"It gave me an opportunity to network between different small businesses and gave me a look at what that kind of event would look like. I was also given a booth to display my business of 3D printing. I got the opportunity to display certain items at the fair," Cody Gleason '26 said.

Winter Concerts

On Dec. 18 and 19, the winter concerts brought the holiday spirit to life. The first night featured Concert Choir, Orchestra, Band and Vocal Ensemble, and the second night showcased Sol, Percussion Ensemble and Jazz Band. “The winter concert was really fun... Chorus is really fun. I love Ms. Metcalfe. I love singing too, especially in the shower. At the concert, my favorite experience was when we all went to the stage and we all performed the 'Hallelujah Chorus,'” James Knott ‘26 said. The concert provided an opportunity for students to showcase their hard work and talent. For musicians like Eli Leroux ‘27, it was also a chance to introduce others to a different style of music. “I really enjoy being able to share this music with everyone in the school since it’s not often that people listen to classical music or music like it,” Leroux said. “I really enjoy playing the violin. Being part of the orchestra or any of the music ensembles is an amazing experience. You’re exposed to an amazing community that is very supportive.” Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

WINTER SPIRIT WEEK

On Dec. 20, students gathered in the auditorium during fourth period for the annual holiday assembly. The event featured performances from four of the school's music ensembles, filling the space with festive music.

Robert Belz '26, a percussionist, shared his excitement about performing. "[I'm] definitely nervous, but also it's like we're making a whole music production together, and I find that really exciting so I'm overall excited," Belz said."I play the vibraphone."

Mr. Kilby, the band director, especially enjoyed leading the orchestra's performance of "The Grinch." "Favorite song to direct... 'The Grinch' is pretty fun, for me, with the orchestra," Kilby said. "It's a lot of fun, and I actually get to conduct that. I don't have to do a whole lot of conducting for percussion ensemble or for jazz band."

The performances were a highlight of the school day, spreading holiday spirit and showcasing the talent of the music department.

"I thought the holiday assembly was a wonderful time. As someone who played in both the percussion ensembles, it was fun to be able to perform for the student body twice."

ROBERT BARNSTEAD '26

"At the holiday assembly, I played the cello and helped to make the melodies that we played to really pop. My favorite part about the show was the Jazz Band's songs at the end."

REID CHRISTESEN '28

"The holiday assembly was a blast. I sang bass for Sol and we performed really well. I also got to watch the Jazz Band play, and I was overjoyed when they played their yearly tradition song "This Christmas."

ALEX STAVREVSKI '25

Vocab Club is a way to learn new words, expand vocabulary and further one's learning.

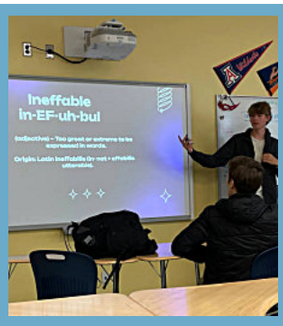

"My favorite thing about the Vocab Club is that it is very open and if someone wants to get into vocab it's not uptight and anyone can enjoy it."

THOMAS MILLER '25

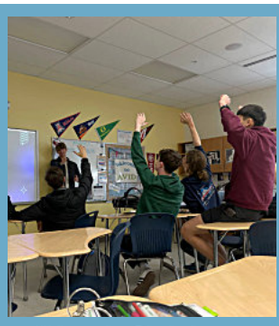

“I really like the atmosphere of Vocab Club. I think every time we show up we have a good group where everyone is friendly, and it's a nice distraction from school while learning."

GAVIN MORRIS '25

“I really like learning about new words that can expand my vocabulary, and it's helpful towards the SAT because I'm not really good at the English section, so knowing more words will help me out in the long run.”

JOSIAH ANGELES '26

SPHS students came together to save lives during the blood drive on Dec. 14. Their donations made a big difference for people in need. “My English teacher advertised it, and I thought it was a good thing to do. I had to get my blood levels tested first to make sure I was okay to donate. Then they, like, set me down on a table to donate the blood. It actually wasn’t that bad. I would definitely do it again,” Stella Kiddney '26 said.

Many students chose to donate blood to help others. “It’s pretty simple. You do the quick pass, which takes, like, five minutes. You get set up, do a lot of questions with the interviewer to make sure you’re qualified for it. Then you get set up on a table, and it takes, like, five or ten minutes, and then you’re done,” Ryleigh Smith '25 said.

Like Kiddney, a teacher encouraged Smith to take part in the event. “I got inspired by one of the English teachers, Ms. Harrington,” Smith said. “I had her in junior year, and she’s always talking about it.” Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Dance Concert

After several weeks of planning and rehearsals, dance companies from the high school, middle school and elementary schools came together to perform at the Winter Dance Concert in the school auditorium.

Though preparation for the concert was hard work, Dance Company members loved how the concert celebrated the holiday season. “During the Winter Dance Concert, all my friends and I rehearsed for months to prepare, and we got to perform together in holiday themed pieces,” Mackenzie Clark ‘25 said.

Dance Company members were all encouraged to choreograph their own routines that could be chosen for the shows. “I also got to choreograph a dance piece with my friend that was showcased as well,” Clark said.

Not only was the concert an opportunity for our school's Dance Company to showcase their skills and hard work, but it was also a chance to support local middle and elementary school dance programs. Story By: Francesca Gelfand

In preparation for future interviews, juniors participated in mock interviews from Dec. 2-6. In English classes, students created resumes showcasing their skills and experiences. Afterwards, students presented their skills and expertise in a formal interview with professionals from the community who volunteered as interviewers.

"I liked that I got the chance to practice my interview skills and learn what I need to improve on," Anna Willis '26 said.

Mock interviews give students a chance to practice the skills that are essential to real-life communication and the interview process. Though the process is nerve-wracking at times, it provides constructive feedback and hands-on experience in the new terrain of interviewing that will be beneficial in the future.

All in all, students found mock interviews to be a beneficial and unique opportunity to present their skills and prepare them for the future.

Winter Holidays

The winter months bring many different reasons to celebrate, including multiple holidays. Some of the most popular for SPHS students include Christmas and New Year's, but there are also many other holidays that students celebrate, such as Ramadan. "Every year the start is always a bit tough because you need to adjust to it because you can't eat or drink water from sunrise to sunset, so in the beginning I have no energy to get through school days. But it's really fun because you get a really big feast at the end of the day and become closer to your family and religion," Rama Abushi '26 said.

Some students also enjoyed the opportunity to celebrate multiple winter holidays. "I spent my winter holiday at home with my family. We celebrated Hanukkah for most of the nights; I did also spend time with friends for a New Year's/Christmas party. We also had a family recipe of dessert latkes which is matzah meal cooked in red wine," Lena Biran '25 said. Story By: Alethia Brown

From cute markets to sunny beaches, SPHS students and staff took a well-deserved break, spending time with family, traveling and celebrating winter. Everyone had a unique way of making the most of their time off.

For Milka Reyes-Baires '26, winter break was a chance to give back while experiencing the beauty of another country. “During winter break, I spent my time in El Salvador. Most of the time was missionary, but I also had two free days, and I got to see my family,” she said. “I went to the most beautiful beach, saw rivers and visited many beautiful towns over there.”

Meanwhile, Jasmine Reeve ‘26 embraced the holiday spirit a little closer to home. “I went to the Christmas market in Baltimore with friends and family. Super cute. It was the German one. They had good food, good decorations and it was very fun.”

Faculty & Family

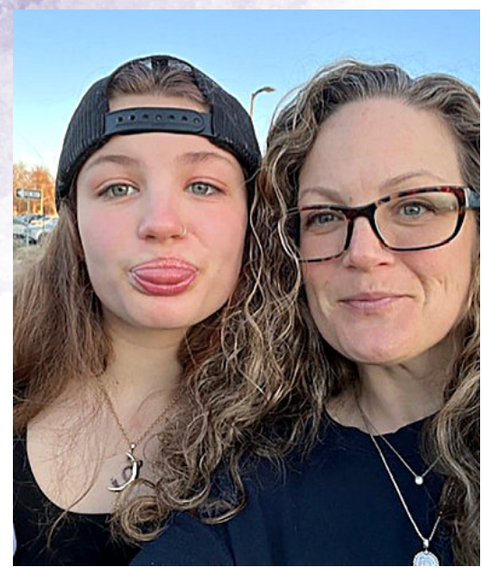

RILEY AND PETER BUCK

1. “I get to see Riley every day. We have lunch occasionally together… A con for her probably is the fact that I know what has happened before she tells me… Ryan [is] coming into SPHS this fall. So, Riley and Ryan will be together for three years in high school,” Peter Buck said.
2. "I'd probably say I always have the opportunity if I need help. I always walk down and get help from them…The least favorite is probably that he’s always here… but whenever I have a problem, I know I always have him here," Riley Buck said.

1. “I love having my daughter in the school with me. It gives me more opportunities to spend time with her and be a part of her life during the sometimes stressful, sometimes awesome teenage years… [A con would be] mixing home stress and work stress… Lillian will be here all four years of HS.”
2. "[My favorite part is] I get to help her in the classroom, which is kind of fun… a con is getting here at the butt crack of dawn. Her working here has perks for sure, definitely, just having somewhere to chill."

LILIAN AND JENNIFER MERMOD

KEATON AND BRITTANY FONTE

1. "I enjoy being able to drive to and from school with my favorite (female) child and I love knowing the teachers she gets to experience. I also love that I was able to see her as a student and she could see me as a teacher when I got to teach her first semester in Honors English 9," Brittany Fonte said.
2. "My favorite part is that I can get hot lunch from the microwave in the teacher room… I'd say the con is that you kind of overhear people talking about them… I spend most of my falcon blocks with her, which is really nice," Keaton Fonte said.

RYDER HALLORAN AND KELLEY COTTON-HALLORAN

1. “I like being in school with my children… because we help each other with what is going on in the building and I can see my boys throughout the day… For me, there has been no negatives… It’s allowed us to experience their high school years together," Kelley Halloran-Cotton said.
2. "I can see my mom every day, any time I want, if I'm stressed out or something, I just walk down to the office and say what's up… A con I guess [is] the same thing, she's always here," Ryder Halloran said.

1. "I love seeing how far Avery has come as a freshman and will enjoy seeing her growth throughout her high school journey. The biggest hurdle is that when I'm working in the Main Office, I can't always flip over to 'mom-mode' when she needs me," Nikki Slater said.
2. "My favorite part is probably getting to see my mom when I pass by the office… I actually really appreciate it that she works here. I never really expected it… I feel lucky because she works here and not all the kids get that," Avery Slater said.

AVERY AND NIKKI SLATER

CHRIS, NATHAN AND JULIE LOWMAN

1. "Favorite part: I like how I know all of their teachers and that I'm here in the building if they need anything.
Con: I don't really have a con," Julie Lowman said.
2. "I'm in the same class that she's teaching right now, it helps a lot having someone at home help me out that knows exactly what's going on…It's kind of weird when somebody comes up to me and tells me that they know my mom and tell me details about my own life that I didn't tell them," Chris Lowman said.

This winter, students in Anne Arundel County were treated to three unexpected breaks from school, on Jan. 6, Jan. 7 and Feb. 12. These snow days gave students the perfect opportunity to enjoy the winter weather with family and friends.

For many, the snow days were filled with outdoor adventures. Laurel Coard ‘27 made the most of the wintry conditions. “I went sledding with my friends and family,” Coard said. “It was really fun.”

Chace Dustin ‘27 traveled out of state. “During snow days, I like to ski with my family,” Dustin said. “We actually went to Maine this year, so that’s pretty fun. We got a lot of hot cocoa, good cookies and ate cupcakes there.”

Whether it was sledding down hills, skiing on snowy slopes or just enjoying a cozy day inside, these snow days gave students a much-needed break to enjoy the magic of winter. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Polar Bear Plunge

Each year, thousands of Maryland students, teachers and community members gather at Sandy Point State Park for an event that is equal parts thrilling and charitable: the Maryland Polar Bear Plunge. “We went to the cafeteria in the morning and waited for the bus to arrive,” Robert Haufe ‘25 said. “We got our tote bags, which was nice.”

The freezing temperatures of the Chesapeake Bay weren’t enough to bring down spirits. Natalie Frank ‘25, who was participating for the fifth time, said it was another unforgettable experience. “It was so great to see the difference we’re making and hang out with the AACC kids. It’s always a great time.”

Each participant raises money to support Special Olympics Maryland. It helps provide sports training and competitions for athletes with intellectual disabilities. “I love going into the water,” Frank said. “I know it may seem intimidating, but it’s fun to go in and raise money for such a good cause.” Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Each year, the drama department puts on its highly anticipated Rock n Roll Revival (RnR). RnR is a tradition that unites students, teachers, alumni and the community through music. Now in its 36th year, the show continues to captivate audiences by celebrating timeless classics and performing songs that are at least 20 years old.

For Jenna Augustine '25, this year's show felt smoother than ever. "I have been doing it for three years," Augustine said. "I'd say this year has been the least stressful since we had everything ready a long time before tech week. So it was honestly the most easy-breeze Rock N Roll we had."

With a cast of talented vocalists, dancers and musicians, this year's production once again proved why it remains one of the most loved events at SPHS. From the moment rehearsals begin to the final standing ovation, students come together to create something unforgettable. "Rock and Roll is such a unique and special experience," Mason Fleming '25 said. "It's like the one main production that Severna Park puts on every year, and it's my favorite time of year. It's so fun being able to sing these songs that are so iconic with all these people, that are like my absolute best friends... I'm gonna miss it so much when it's gone." Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

Molly Martin '26, Isla Crawford '27, Ava Gilman '25, Kaitlyn Knowles '27 and Grace Daly '25 pose for the end of "Lovefool" on Sunday, March 16. There were eight shows this year, on March 13–15 and 20–22 at 7:00 PM and on March 16 and 22 at 2:00 PM. "It's a very welcoming and just a overall great experience," Kassidy Barstow '26 said. CAST INTERVIEWS

"I loved interacting with my peers and performing with them, and I loved getting direction from the directors."

MAX LIIMATTA '26

"It's scary performing in front of thousands of people you know, but it's a really good experience."

BROOKE TESTERMAN '25

"It can be a little scary because a lot of people come to watch, but you meet so many people and the directors are really nice."

CAROLINE CRESS '27

"We worked so hard, hours on end every single day to put this production together, and the environment and community during the show was amazing."

CAT South

CAT South offers hands-on experience in everything from film to automotive tech, and students are making the most of it. "At CATS I have done pretty much everything. I have six ASE certifications, have rebuilt entire engines, brake systems, swapped suspension on cars, straight piped a car and managed to not electrocute myself, which is more impressive than it should be," Plant said.

In the world of media, Jasmine Reeve '26 brings stories to life. "So for my class IMP, we basically do cinematography," Reeve said. "My favorite part is making short films. I joined because of my passion for film making, the opportunity to expand my talents and meet new people."

CAT South gives students the tools to build their futures. Students get to experience what it's like to work in these industries, and also have job opportunities. "If you're lucky you can get a job through the school," Plant said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

One Acts is an event where students write, direct and act in one act plays. This year, on Feb. 21, students put on three plays in the Black Box Theater. "I was in 'The Masked Menace' one act," Charlotte Cleary '26 said. "It was the most fun I have ever had. The process was long with practices that were after school but the end result was amazing. I made so many new friends and memories with my cast mates. Thank you Claire for making this one act the most memorable one yet."

One of the most memorable parts for students is being able to spend time with their cast and have the whole event be completely student-led. "One Acts have been an amazing part of my life," Destiny Felder '27 said. "To perform and act for friends and family, it's super special and everyone should experience that kind of family in your cast. Being directed by my upperclassmen friends is such a bonding and heartwarming experience, and super low stakes." Story By: Alethia Brown

Spring Break

Spring break is often a chance for students to take a break from school and find fun things to do while they relax. Many students take advantage of spring break by visiting local attractions. “Over spring break I went to the national gallery of art in D.C., which is one of my favorite museums,” Fredrika Woolf ‘27 said.

For other students, spring break means traveling and spending time with family. “I went to Kentucky to visit my grandparents and then my sister went on some college tours,” Thomas Wolfe ‘28 said.

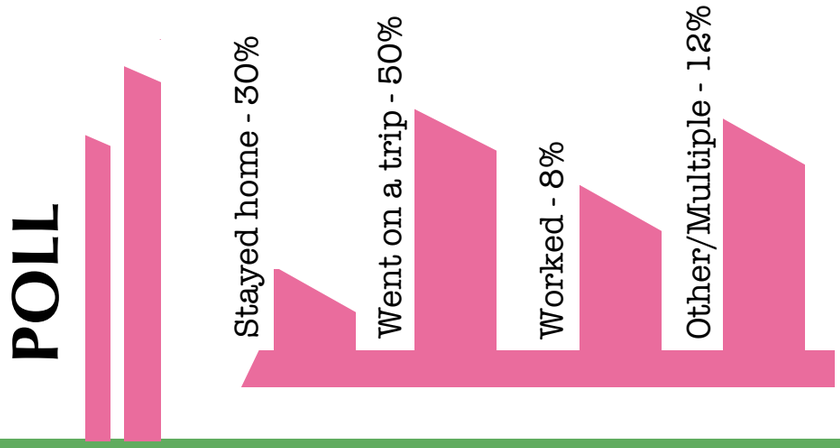

Spring break also means celebrating Easter for some students. “This spring break I just basically chilled at home,” Ryan Bianco '28 said. “I went to my aunt’s house for Easter, and we had an Easter egg hunt. The Easter egg hunt was pretty fun, so that’s probably my favorite.” Story By: Alethia Brown

A Note for Our Future Selves

Hi Natalie, it's your tenth grade self. Hopefully your career is going well and you are less exhausted. Don't let yourself get washed all over. XX

Natalie Erdman

How was highschool? Did we get into college? Do I still like running?

Avery Girton

To my future self:
I hope that you continue to have fun, inspiring time with friends and have an amazing summer! Enjoy the break to the fullest!! Jr year will be a blast, you've got this!

-Sarah Baressi

How are we doing? I hope we are still happy and have good relationships. I hope you found a great job and are or soon will be financially independant. How often do we talk to mom and dad? What about sophia and Alex? Jack? Remember to be grateful for what we have and stay confident. Wishing you the best ♡

sincerely,
Haley Elfenbein

I hope you're still friends with Jack Crutchley.

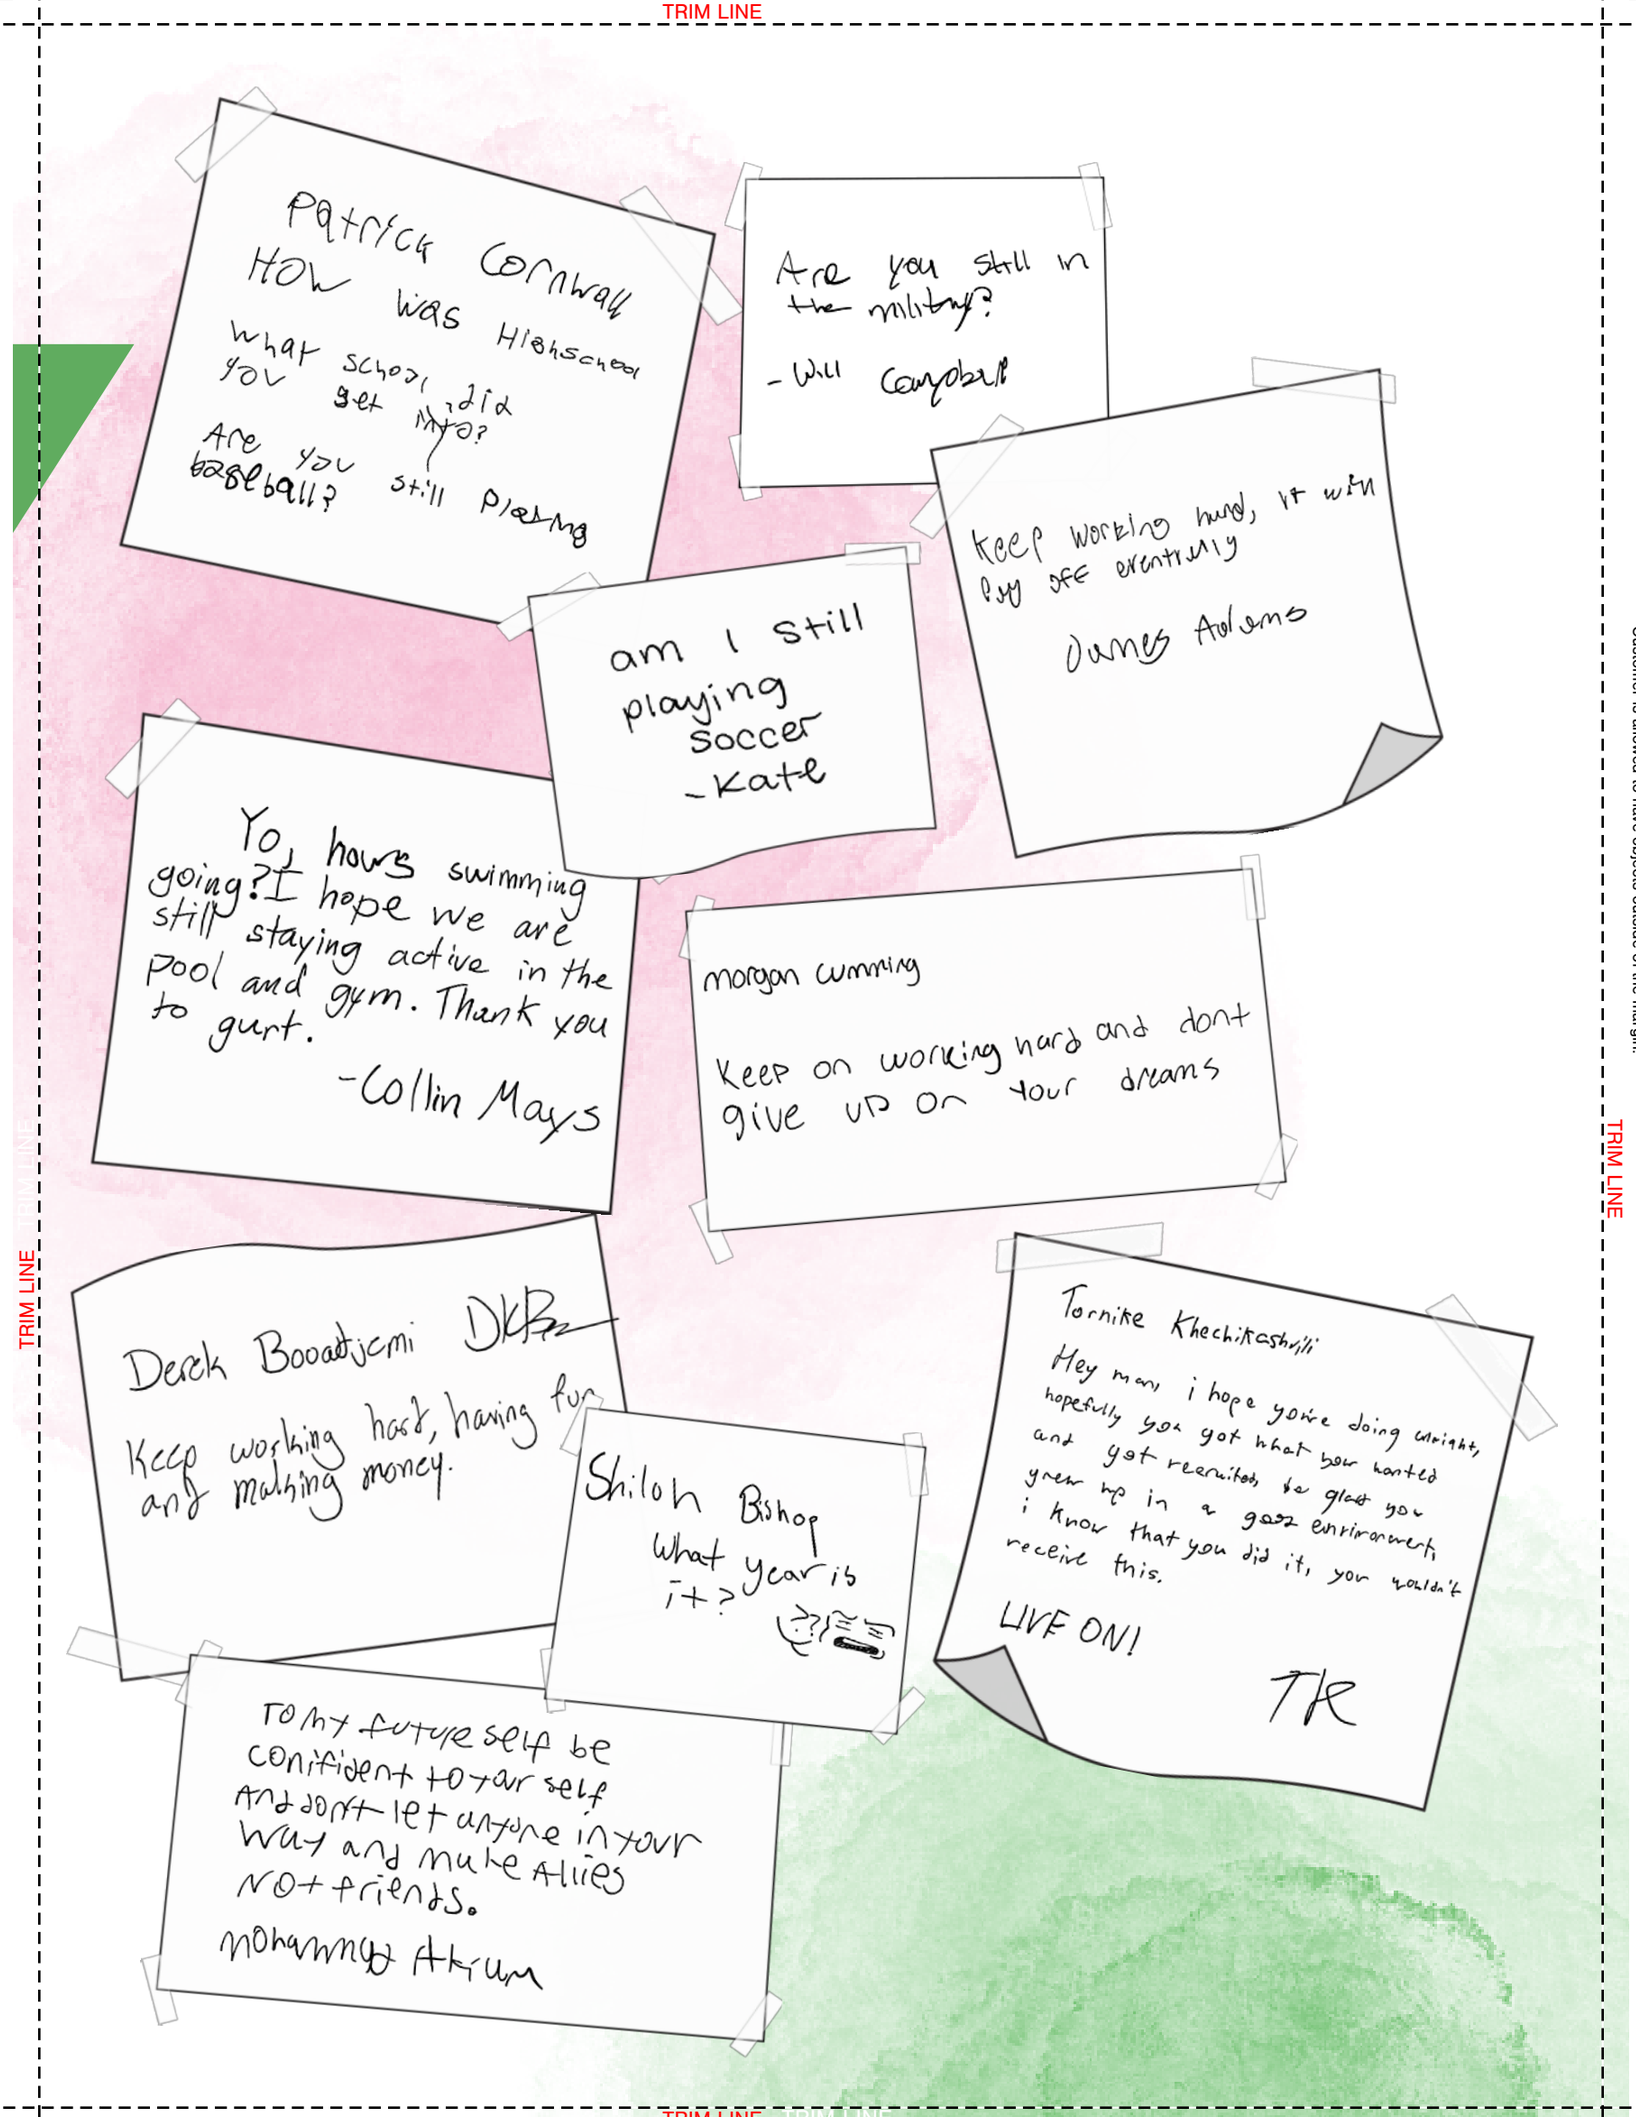

Henry Marriner

I hope that you continue to have fun and make the most of the time you have with people. I hope you continue to follow and work hard for your dreams and remember the sky is the limit.

From April 7 to 11, students, staff and the community raised funds and awareness for Make-A-Wish Mid-Atlantic during Wish Week, turning school spirit into real-world impact. Leadership 2 hosted a variety of events, including a ping pong tournament, a corn hole tournament and multiple restaurant nights to raise money for children battling critical illnesses. Every game played and bite eaten at participating restaurants brought the school one step closer to granting life-changing wishes.

"It was a lot of fun. We got to work together and work with a lot of local businesses to gain support and get donations for the children in the Make-A-Wish Foundation. The goal was to get money to grant their wishes and hope that they have a better experience fighting through their illness, and hopefully overcoming that, as a result of getting the wish they want," Samantha Lavallee '26 said. This spring, juniors got the chance to become authors. As part of service learning, students partnered with local elementary school children to bring their creative ideas to life through storytelling. “It was fun. There was a lot of creativity involved,” Madelyn Goodwin ’26 said. “The kid I worked with was very shy at first. She didn’t talk much.”

During the first visit, juniors sat down with the younger students to learn about them. From there, they designed and wrote their own books inspired by those conversations. The project came full circle when the juniors returned to deliver the books and read them aloud to the elementary schoolers. “[My buddy] read it a couple times after I read it to her, so yeah, she really liked it,” Goodwin said.

Many of the English teachers enjoy watching the students make an impact each year. "There’s so much about Severna Park that is very ‘I’-focused: academics, sports, you know, and so it’s always memorable to me when we feel appreciated by the teachers at the elementary schools and they walk away just saying, ‘You need to let your kids know what a difference this is making, what a big deal it is,’" Valerie Earhart said. Music Concerts

This spring, the school was filled with music and emotion throughout four concerts. Each night brought something special to the stage, and for many, it was their last performance with friends who are graduating.

The week started on May 19 with the Chorus and Vocal Ensemble concert followed by the Symphonic Band and Orchestra concert on May 20. “It was really fun,” Daniel Lane ’26, who plays in the Orchestra, said. “It was a little sad because most of the people in my section are seniors, so it was the last time I ever saw them. That was really sad, but it was really nice to play all the pieces we’ve been playing for the entire year for one last time and hear just everything come together.”

May 21 featured performances by Jazz Band and Percussion Ensemble, and the week ended with the Sol Concert on May 23. “It was the last concert with 10 of my closest friends that are graduating, so definitely was a sentimental one and hard to get through, but it was fun to perform with all of them one more time,” Brooklyn LaBrier ’26 said. Senior assassin is a game where students are assigned to "targets," or other students who are playing, and attempt to shoot them with a water gun. "Senior Assassin was so fun, even though I was eliminated first," Victoria Wright '25 said. "I had so much fun getting my water gun and goggles ready and plotting my hit. After I was eliminated, I still went around with my friends to get their targets. You really can't trust anyone."

Some students just do it for the money, but others treat it like it's life or death, doing extensive research about their target. They find addresses, friends and even their daily schedules just to eliminate their target. "I really enjoyed being a senior assassin because it allowed me to connect with friends and work together with them. It also let me meet some new people in the grade that I never knew about," Gunner Chen '25 said. Story By: Alethia Brown & Logan Symmes

Disney Trip

On April 25 to 29, students from chorus, band and orchestra brought their talent to the most magical place on Earth. From the stage to the rides, the music department had an unforgettable experience. The adventure started with a stop at Buc-ee's, where students grabbed snacks, souvenirs and just the right amount of chaos to kick off the weekend. "On the first day we stopped at Buc-ee's because we sang to Mr. Kilby and got lots of cool stuff," Kelsey Sparkman '25 said. "Then on the way back we went to Buc-ee's two more times."

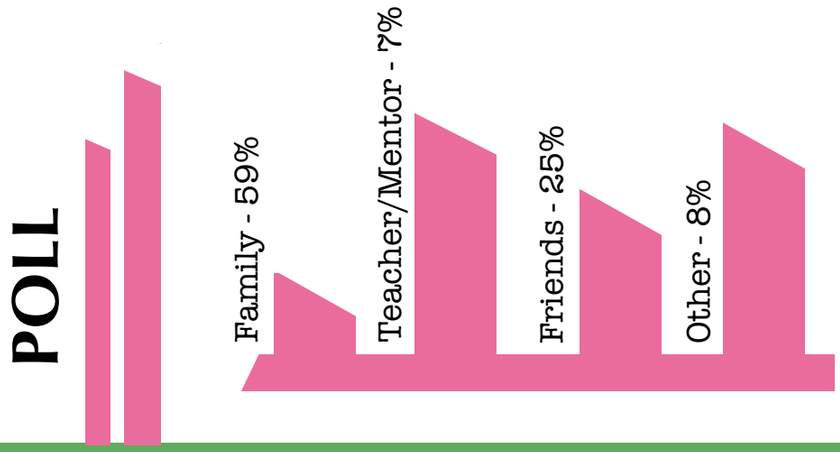

Performing in Disney was a highlight, but so was exploring the parks. Visiting EPCOT on the last day of the trip sparked curiosity and laughter alike, as many students were excited to learn and use new languages throughout the park. "I liked going around to all the different places in EPCOT and trying all the foods," Margaret Moran '25 said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

The spring play made its second appearance at Severna Park in over a decade. Following on the footsteps of "Arsenic and Old Lace," the theater department put on a performance of "Clue." The show follows the tribulations of six guests who receive a mysterious invitation to the frightening Boddy Manor. The six guests discover they have been invited by their mutual blackmailer and what ensues is a convoluted murder mystery involving affairs, secrets and an FBI sting operation. "'Clue' was such a fun experience. I loved getting to end my year by putting on such a funny show with all my friends," Logan Symmes '25, who played Colonel Mustard, said.

Students had a limited time to put the show together, led by director Ms. Parks and student director Claire McLaughlin '26. "I really enjoyed the opportunity to work with so many talented people... Helping direct was also really awesome and was great a leadership experience," McLaughlin said. Story By: Cole Christesen

The class of 2025 came together for an unforgettable night on May 3 at the Marriott at BWI for this year's prom. Dressed to impress, students danced the night away, celebrating the end of an era with friends, music and laughter. "My favorite part about prom was all the dancing and you know, all the gathering of friends," Will Stimpson '25 said. "I'm usually mostly anti-social, but for right now and for what I'm going to do for the rest of my life is try to get involved with groups, and I feel like prom is the best way to do it."

The fun didn't stop there. After prom, students headed back to school for prom breakfast from 11 p.m. to 2 a.m. The late-night event featured games, food and chances to win prizes and cash. "I had a lot of fun at the dance," Reid Caughy '25 said. "It was nice to see all my friends and have fun with them. I got to win a mini fridge and some cash from the cash grab game, which was nice."

From the dance floor to late-night games, Prom was a celebration full of memories, prizes and moments the senior class will never forget. "I had a great time," Mason Keegan '25 said. "Very fun on the dance floor. I did attend prom breakfast. I won a bunch of money. Didn't win any prizes or anything, but still had a great time with all my friends." Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann

"I really liked being able to hang out with my friends and see everybody in the grade there... All the games at the breakfast were fun... I won a hammock and a teddy bear... I liked the photo booth that was really fun too."

SARA GIVER OLARTE '25

"I think the food was good, and the dance floor was pretty nice too... [At the breakfast] they had the money machine where they blow all the money up and in the air and you get to catch it, so that was pretty fun."

MASON GRUVER '25

"[My favorite part was] just getting to hang out with my friends and enjoy the night... At the breakfast I won... a shelf thingy and a charging port... I liked hanging out on the party bus with my friends and listening to music."

COLLEEN KELLIHER '25

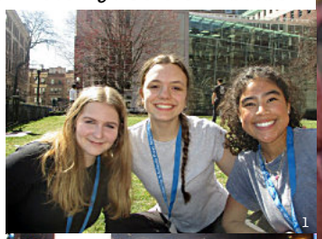

"[My favorite part was] the dancing with all my friends, the food was good, and the game room was also pretty cool... Pictures were also a lot of fun and overall prom was a really good time."

CSPA

Staff and editors across Severna Park's publications, the Talon, Embers, Impulse and SPTV went to New York City to participate as well as present for the Colombia Scholastic Press Association's annual convention. CSPA presents an opportunity for students in publications to learn new things and gain valuable insight from their counterparts at other schools. "I really loved getting to present at CSPA. It was my second year to do so and I was glad to get to offer up my perspective and experiences to people from other schools," Cole Christesen '25, Embers Editor-in-Chief, said.

The trip wasn't all about publications, though. Students got many opportunities to explore New York and shop. "It was really freeing, being on our own in NYC, because it's such a big city. I was able to have a lot of fun shopping even though everything was really expensive," Katarina Day '26, Embers Photo Editor, said. Story By: Cole Christesen

After rehearsing graduation, seniors had a final send off from SPHS outside on the sports fields. The third annual senior picnic offered a chance for seniors to say goodbye to friends and memories before going off to whatever awaits them after high school. The picnic had snowballs, games and food on offer for the graduates. “My favorite part about the senior picnic is getting to spend time with my friends and seeing everybody kind of one last time before graduation,” Elle Hollands ’25 said. “It’s just really fun to talk to all of my friends and, like, sign our yearbooks and the food’s pretty nice too.”

After the seniors are done with school, the senior parking is open and juniors have the opportunity to park there. However, skepticism arises as not everyone is sure if they will get a spot. “With seniors gone, parking spots will be open to juniors,” Ava Cosler '26 said. “I think the first couple of weeks, its going to be kind of hectic and really hard to get out, but after that, I think it will calm down some.”

This time of year typically causes a bit of chaos within the parking lot, as with increased students there at the end of the day comes higher volumes of traffic and more difficulty getting out of the school. Most juniors, though, are optimistic that things will work out as things develop a rhythm. “I think it will be hectic to start out with, but I think it will be fine since the parking lot is pretty big,” Taylor Moran '26 said. “As long as people aren’t stupid and are aware of each other it will be great.” Story By: Maura Cronin

Seniors have lots of different feelings after graduating. Many will miss seeing friends and teachers. “I will miss being in class with my best friends,” Maya Vernugopal ‘25 said.

However, they are also excited for all of the new opportunities that will come. “I’m nervous about being in a completely new city, but also excited to meet everyone there. I’m excited to live in the city and get an apartment,” Ryan Bonner '25 said.

After participating in graduation practice, students were prepared for the real thing. "I like how they let us prepare for a really big day in our lives, and it means a lot that the school is helping us be prepared till the very end," Colin Mays ‘25 said. "I also felt a big weight be released from my shoulders because it let me mentally set up for actual graduation."

There are lots of fun things planned for the future for all of the seniors at SPHS. "I'm going to the University of Kentucky studying in nursing, and then I'm hoping to be a nurse anesthetist and go on from there," Logan Alpert '25 said. Story By: Kennedy Bass

DECISION DAY

"I chose UMD because it was the best school that I got into and it has great opportunities and programs for engineering and foreign language. Also, it's home to multiple of the top a cappella groups in the country!"

ALEX STAVREVSKI '25

"I first got reached out to by the swim coach so we went and took a visit. I fell in love with the location and size of [St. Mary’s College of Maryland]. The professors seem very connected to all their students. It just felt like the perfect place for me."

LILY QUILL '25

"I chose The University of Delaware as it has one of the top Pre-Veterinary Medicine majors in the United States. Overall, I love the campus and how everything is walking distance."

HAILEY ROBERTS '25

"I chose to attend Salisbury University because I want to further my education and when I visited, I knew immediately that I could see myself there for the next four years."

Charlie Delobe

From freshman to future baseball champion.

Charlie Delobe ‘28 has been playing baseball since he was two years old. “Yeah, so basically, I play on a team in Virginia, and so our fall season, we went 21-0. We didn't lose a single game, and yeah it's a brand-new team,” Delobe said. "We're going to go to, like, Florida, Georgia, all these different places in the summer."

For his future, Delobe wants to continue playing baseball. Though Delobe is not fully sure what college he wants to play for, he has some ideas, like Oregon, Virginia Tech and Miami. "I want to play major in baseball, and I want to play in college," Delobe said. Story By: Mimi Connolly. Photo By: Katarina Day

Tim Ligterink

Lasting love for fishing and time on the water.

Fishing is a big part of Tim Ligterink's '28 life. His dad introduced him to fishing when he was six, and it is a way for them to spend quality time together. "I usually fish with my dad or my friend Logan," Ligterink said.

Now, Ligterink fishes two to three times a week on a lake or the bay. He mostly catches bass and rockfish, but the biggest fish he had caught was around 2014. "It had to have been at least two feet," Ligterink said. "I usually catch a good amount of fish." Story By: Mallory Schaffer. Photo By: Katarina Day

A repertoire of diving skills and practice.

Ironically, Liv Bernhardt '28 doesn't like swimming, but she competes as a diver. "Oh you would never catch me swimming," Bernhardt said.

Whether it be the one meter, three meter or high dive, Bernhardt has a lineup ready to go. Ranging from a double flip all the way through reverses, her lineups could encase a wide variety of tools that Bernhardt has under her belt of experience. "I did winter training at UMBC twice a week," Bernhardt said. "And I kind of do training to build up for summer. And I'm a coach at my pool." Story By: Andrew Bonk. Photo By: Valerie Earhart

Melissa Allen

Discovery piques the interest of an artist.

Melissa Allen ‘27 likes to create things with her hands. This lets Allen enjoy school projects that allow her to use her creativity, such as her forensic science project. “We were supposed to create a crime scene using creative thinking and things we learn in that class...” Allen said.

Allen had a great foundation for completing this project with her artistic background, as she enjoys drawing, painting and crocheting, and she often takes inspiration for her art from her discoveries. “When I'm bored I like to search things on my computer..." Allen said. "[Once] I'm pretty sure that I found out that something that has to do with my name involves honey bees, and I made a painting of a honeycomb with bees around it, just like for the fun of it." John Cameron

Building sets behind the scenes as a member of tech crew.

Many students worked late into the night to make the fall musical, “Catch Me If You Can,” a success. The tech crew did everything from making sets to running the lights.

As a part of tech crew, John Cameron '27 worked on building the set. “I like painting stuff and making the set really big and cool,” Cameron said.

Cameron has been a member of tech crew since middle school and he has worked on building sets and spotlight. He says his favorite part of tech crew is building sets, but he enjoys both jobs equally. Story By: Juliana Borresen Coward. Photo By: Valerie Earhart

Kassia Gautreau

The sophomore who sings, also dances and surfs.

Known for her outstanding performances in RnR, Kassia Gautreau '27 is a natural on stage whether singing or dancing. Gautreau has been dancing for 13 years and it has become one of her favorite activities. “I do dancing because I like to be on stage and I like making new friends and going to master classes around different states with my dance studio and meeting new people and teachers,” Gautreau said.

Gautreau started out nervous, but singing on stage is now one of her favorite things to do. Her core memory of singing was in RnR her freshman year. “... it was my first time ever singing on stage in front of people before... I remember the first day I was so nervous and so scared but I was so proud of myself the entire night, and I went home. I was so happy because I had a really big fear of singing in front of people,” Gautreau said. Story By: Mia Brown. Photo By:Katarina Day

Jahari Gray

A workout journey.

Jahari Gray '27 did not have many hobbies until he started strength and conditioning. “My favorite subject in school is strength and conditioning because it got me into working out,” Gray said.

This motivation for weight lifting has partially come from watching people on social media. These people help show him the correct form when doing some exercises. “I have been watching Sam Sulek to motivate me to work out more,” Gray said.

Gray might even start his own social media page. “It depends how the rest of this year goes for working out. If I feel like creating an Instagram I will, if it is something I am into that day,” Gray said. Story By: Sean Burkhardt. Photo By: Katarina Day

Jackson Scalf

Hobbies ranging from gaming to napping.

Jackson Scalf '26 has various hobbies. “I like playing video games, going to the gym, taking naps and hanging out with friends,” Scalf said.

His favorite games include Fortnite, Roblox and Red Dead Redemption. “I’m not really good, I just play for fun,” Scalf said.

Most of the time Scalf prefers to play with friends but sometimes enjoys solo play. He prefers FPS shooters and story mode games, but as of late, school has kept him too busy for competitive play. “School is very stressful,” Scalf said.

Bringing heart to the school through involvement.

Ella Atwood '26 is all about helping people feel like they belong. "I've moved around a lot because my stepdad is in the military," Ella said. "It's tough always being the new kid, but it's also made me realize how important it is to feel like you fit in somewhere. Now that I've found that here, I want to make sure other people feel it too."

Ella is active in Best Buddies, SGA, PTSA and Unified Sports. From planning events to supporting students with disabilities, everything she does is focused on helping others. "It's a lot sometimes, but I really enjoy it," Atwood said. "... I just want to make people feel seen and cared for. Alex Kinross Producing R&B music in his free time.

At first glance, Alex Kinross '26 might seem like your typical student, but once you see life from his eyes, it becomes clear that he is not a normal high schooler. Kinross doesn't have a desire to play any sport or have interest in extracurriculars. But he is doing something just as impressive: building his own music career. “I produce music,” Kinross said, referring to his profession in R&B and rap music.

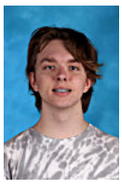

Music is more than just a hobby for Kinross. “I make about 15,000 in my life off music,” Kinross said.

Music isn’t just a fun hobby for Kinross, it’s the future. He wants to go professional, and with the talent he has now. He can go so far. His favorite genre? “R&B music,” he said. Story By: Kendall Bishop. Photo By: Valerie Earhart

Practicing drawing and digital art.

Many students love to use art as a way to express themselves. “I like to spend my time drawing. I find art as a unique creative outlet for me,” Kendra Raiford ‘26 said. There are many art classes you can take that have all kinds of varieties of art. Raiford loves to spend time practicing different types of art at SPHS. “Especially since taking IMP 1, it feels like I’ve had more access to creative tools and initiatives,” Raiford said.

"My proudest moment is when I helped kids with special needs play baseball."

KYLE WITTE '26

"Waking up knowing that I have a good group of people to see at school is probably the highlight of my day"

CODY COOK '26

"A challenge I've faced this year was definitely the workload, like in junior year I'm taking three AP's right now, an engineering class, a couple other things. Especially with extracurricular activities on top of that."

JAMES GRIMSHAW '26

"Trying to get good grades with the six AP classes I'm taking this year and a way I keep my grades up is time management and study."

JAMES SULLIVAN '26

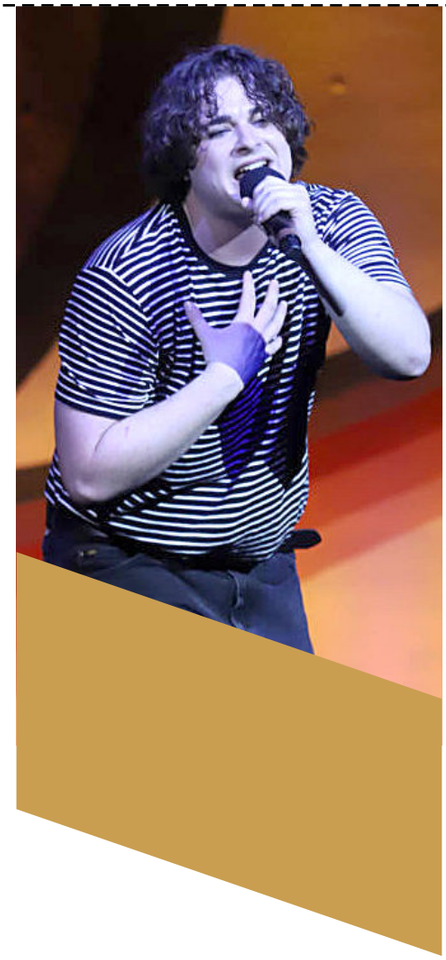

"I took AP Chem this year which was really tough, and ways I did my best to stay on task is doing flashcards and doing research at home."

Annie Gage

Teen pianist finds joy, calm and creativity through music.

Annie Gage ‘25 has been playing the piano for 13 years, a passion that was born after inspiration from her sister’s lessons. “I decided to try it out and I just fell in love with it. It allows me to be creative and... it's also a way to calm myself and just a good outlet for stress,” Gage said.

Though her sister stopped playing, Gage never lost her love for this instrument. Her favorite piece to play is "Clair De Lune" by Claude Debussy. While she has annual recitals with her teacher, Mrs. Jackson, Gage rarely advertises her talent. “I enjoy performing for others but I don’t typically tell people that I play the piano, so it feels like a secret talent that I have,” Gage said. Goodwin's dermatology journey starts with an internship.

Maya Goodwin '25 has taken the opportunity to work as an intern at a Medispa during her senior year to gain experience in the field she wishes to go into. "I help organize the rooms, the supplies and I learn more about the medical field because I want to be a dermatologist when I'm older, so that kind of gives me an idea of what they do there," Goodwin said.

The enthusiasm, determination and kindness she demonstrates will carry her far in every aspect of her life.

Lydia McFarland

Scuba diver loves swimming and exploring new places underwater.

Lydia McFarland '25 was around 11 years old when she first started scuba diving. “I love scuba diving. It's a lot of fun,” McFarland said. “There’s a lot of marine life, so sharks, seahorses, octopus and a bunch of fish. My favorite's probably the sea turtles, and I’ve seen a sea turtle and a shark together, which is really cool,” McFarland said.

McFarland spends a lot of time in many different places all over the world, and exploring the depths of it. "I’ve been to the reef, I’ve been to the blue hole, I’ve been to Hawaii. I've been to like all the big places you’d say. I have my masters, or the highest certificate you can get in scuba diving, so I can go down 240 feet,” McFarland said. Story By: Kennedy Bass. Tech enthusiast pursues cybersecurity.

Connor Stout ‘25 is a member of the National Tech Honor Society, where students work on improving aspects of technology to maximize efficiency. “I'm in it with a bunch of my friends and it just kind of helps get my brain moving and helps me be creative,” Stout said.

His passion for tech has inspired him to pursue a major in cybersecurity in college. However, when he’s not focused on tech, Stout enjoys history, especially learning about World War I and II. “It’s just really interesting. There’s, like, a lot of interesting facts and events to know,” Stout said. Story By: Mathilda Nachtmann. Photo By: Ruby Howland

Francesca Gelfand

Family and friends take center stage.

Passions come in all shapes and sizes, but for Francesca Gelfand '25 it starts with family.

"I'm really passionate about spending time with loved ones. I feel like a lot of the interests that I have today were introduced to me by friends or family," Gelfand said.

Experiences and hobbies are shaped by the people Gelfand surrounds herself with, and how she chooses to spend her time.

"I have the choice to do things that I love on my own or to share those experiences with the people I love most. The more time I spend with those people, the more I can learn about myself... through shared experiences," Gelfand said.

FAVORITE TEACHERS

"Mrs. Goldberg due to taking AP European History in her class. I was able to learn so much and dive deeper into the course since only 12 people that took the class. Mrs. Goldberg was one of the only teachers that made learning one of the hardest AP classes fun. Having a teacher that I felt would listen to my questions and provide a thoughtful response helped me through my junior year. Her being a teacher that takes the time to get to know her students is why she was the most impactful teacher I have had in my high school career." CONNOR PIETRIS

"My most impactful teacher is Ms. McIntyre because she helped me understand more about math and we always had chats before and after class. She helped me through hard times as well." KEELIE BEGIN

"Mr. Kilby is the only teacher I've had all four years, and needless to say, he is a great mentor. He has helped me become a better leader to my peers as well as achieving personal growth through encouraging me to perform harder pieces of music. The time I've spent in this orchestra has truly changed me as a person, and Mr. Kilby's support has been a large part of that." LILA MANCHA

"Mr. Dunbar has had the biggest impact on my life. I had Mr. Dunbar for one semester freshman year, and in that limited time he became someone who would support me in everything I did until the day I graduated. Without his encouragement, I would not be the person I am today." CHARLOTTE COWARD

"Coach P, he taught be how to lift and be more confident, he was so supportive of all of his students." SAMANTHA MADARANG

"Shoutout Mr. Bryden." THOMAS MILLER

Mrs. Earhart was absolutely the teacher with the most impact on me. I appreciate all of my teachers throughout the years, but I've had her every year—in almost every class she teaches—and she has been a mentor and friend to me." ALETHIA BROWN

"Mr. Cahoon's passion and knoweldge for engineering makes him my most impactful teacher. He enourages real critical thinking and problem solving, and helps his students develop real-world soft skills in addition to the engineering skills we learn. The class he teaches, EDD, is extremely dependant on the teacher, and I'm happy to say that he's the perfect teacher for that class." SABRINA RICHTER

"Mrs. Greenlee because she is always kind and welcoming to me in Falcon Block." AARON MORRISON

"Mrs. Sasse because no matter what I was going through that day, she put a smile on my face and worked with me to get everything I need done." CAROLINE WEST

"Ms. Fonte, she was extremely impactful when she taught me in middle school for creative writing, and continued to be a supportive and influential figure when she began working at SPHS." RAYMOND GUETHLER

"Staisloff as she was my calculus teacher would made me much better at math and she was also one of the teachers who helped run math team and wrote me a letter of recommendation." CONNOR SMITH

"Mrs. Kraft taught me how to be confident in my ability specifically in math, but it translated to the rest of my classes and made me a straight A student." CHRIS PAGAN

"Mrs. Marks was my most impactful teacher because she taught me to stay positive, always be prepared for anything, and stay organized to be the most successful I can be." KAYLI TODD

"Mrs. Williams because she taught me all the life lessons I keep dear to my heart and helped me mature. " COURTLYNN EDWARDS

"Mrs. C and Dr. Robertson. Both of these teachers have gone out of their way to help me better understand math. It was so greatly appreciated." MORGAN SPENCER

"Ms. Hendler because she has watched me develop and grow as a person." SOPHIA PROCACCINI

"My most impactful teacher is Mrs. Morris." MERLINDA SHAO

"Ms. Cosh was impactful because she was my advisory and AP Physics teacher. She inspired me to look at the world in a different way. She is always approachable and can hold a meaningful conversation with students. She made what could have been a stressful class, tolerable and enjoyable." ROBERT HAUFE

"Ms. Torelli from 6th grade who was direct and honest while also being great at teaching her subject." BRENDAN JOHNSON

SARA OLARTE

"Mr. Marks he has always made sure I'm doing ok and has helped me in school and life "
ETHAN DILLON

"Mrs. Poole"
REAGAN SEAY

"Mrs. Cosh because she made physics fun."
PETER JUDGE

"My most impactful teacher was Ms. Colon because she helped me learn a lot about business that will help me for the future hopefully."
CHRIS VON DIEZELSKI

"Definitely Mrs. Fish. She is such a smart woman with great advice on everything. She always is someone I can talk to when things aren't going my way and she has supported me since the day I was born."
JACK FISH

"My most impactful teacher is Mrs. Sexton, she has always been there for me and helped me succeed in not only her class, but other classes that I was struggling in. She was more than just my favorite teacher, she also became one of my friends. Whether I needed help studying for a quiz or if it was something as simple as a hug, she was always there."
JENNA AUGUSTINE

"Hands down my most impactful teacher has to be Mr. Hill. Even though I came to his class to learn engineering, I somehow walked a way with a boatload of life lessons and a sense of discipline I didn't know I needed."
JACK DEAVER

"Mr. Kandra was easily my most impactful teacher. Not only was he an amazing teacher, but an amazing person as well. He always knew when and how to motivate me and his other students all the while teaching and cracking jokes."
LOGAN SYMMES

"Ms. Harrington because she always had such a positive environment in her classes and helped me greatly improve my writing."
MADELINE MASONE

"Mrs. Nulud is a gifted teacher, but for me she was also gifted in knowing when she needed to simply support instead of teaching. She was the first person to show me that I'm capable of doing hard things and believed in me throughout the entire process. Her care and her competence changed the way I act and what I plan for the future. She has my eternal gratitude."
ABBIE HEATH

"My most impactful teacher is Mrs. Zhou because she has helped me grow as a student as well as a person. She has been a great example of kindness, compassion, patience, and diligence, which has influenced me to do the same. She has supported me through all of my academic and personal pursuits, and I am very grateful for her encouragement. Mrs. Zhou will always have a great impact on my life."
CAROLINE SANTOS

"Mrs. Mermod because her class was fun and I will use the skills I learned in her class for the rest of my life."
CLARA WILSON

"Mr. Haring, he has been super helpful and supportive to me. He has been there for me whenever I need someone to talk to. He is truly and amazing teacher."
ANNIKA SAATHOFF

Mrs. Miller was someone I could look towards when I was feeling; frustrated, overwhelmed, or just needed some helpful advice or guidance. Mrs. Miller… made sure that every student in her class thrived in her work environment. She was not only willing to sacrifice her planning and work time to help better a student but she also took time from her personal life to watch and support her students at games, events and other activities. Overall, Mrs. Miller is someone I will not forget easily and someone I will keep close to my heart during my new start of life."
RYLEIGH SMITH

"My most impactful person at SPHS would be Mr. Yi! As my counselor, he provided me with continuous support, endless aid, and unwavering motivation, guiding me through every step of my academic journey. Despite the immense responsibilities counselors carry, I still feel that Mr. Yi's contributions were underrated, yet he uplifted and encouraged me in ways that profoundly shaped my high school experience. His belief in me not only fueled my confidence but also inspired me to strive for my best."
KATERI JARVIS

"My most impactful teacher would probably have to be Ms. Smith. I had her for class as a freshman which was scary entering a big school and then again as a junior. She's helped me grow as a student and a person. She's taught me how far being friendly and considerate can take you!! "
KATHRYN BEHE

"My most impactful teacher was undoubtedly Ms Allam. She introduced me to my passion in psychology, and I couldn't have asked for a better teacher to inspire me."
KAIYA NORTON

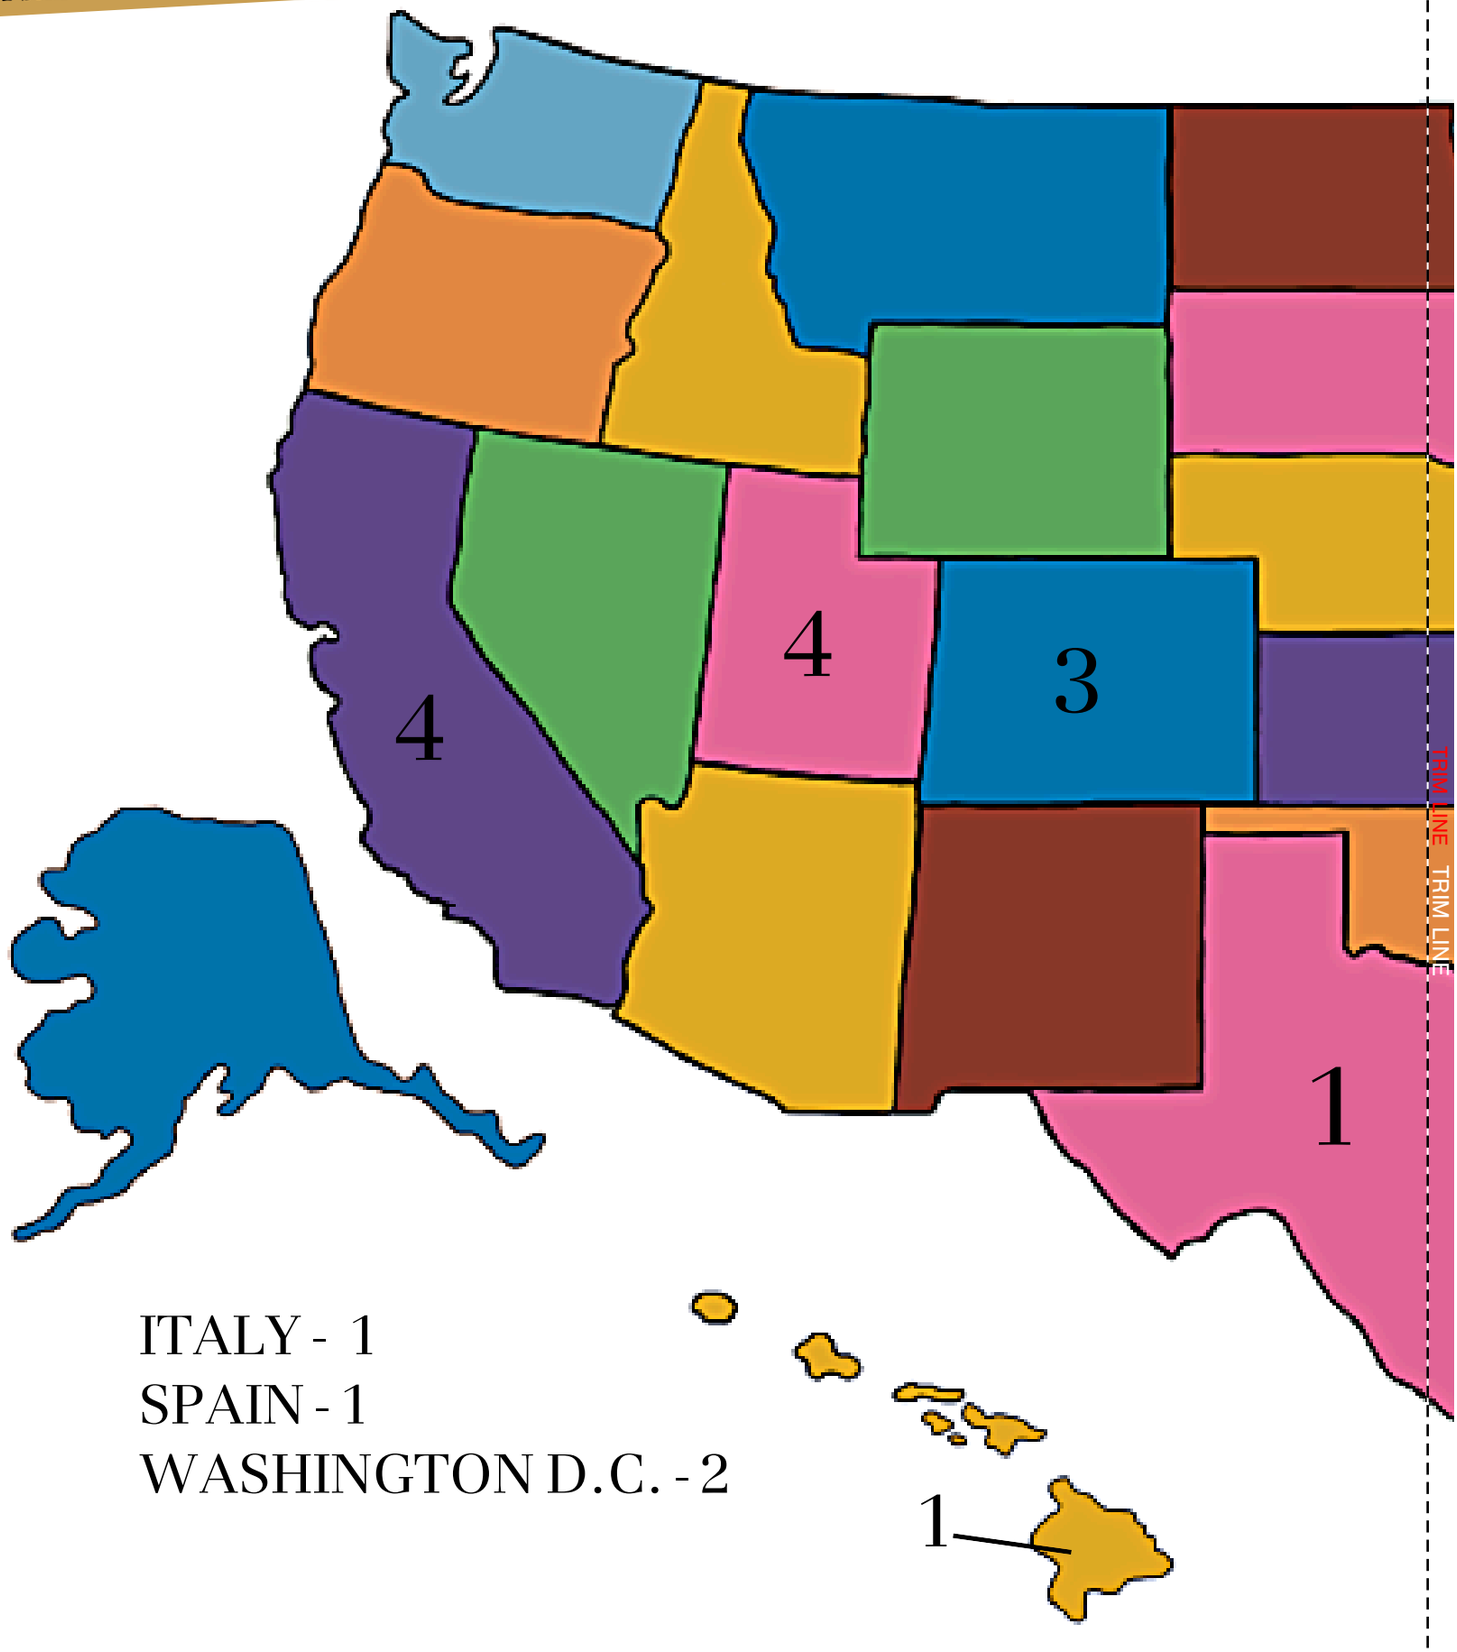

"Ms. Ann Pittman, who made US History culturally relevant to me."

"I love witnessing students' excitement when understanding clicks. The best part of my day is looking out in the classroom and seeing heads nod or hearing those wonderful four words, 'Oh, I get it!'"

MRS. KINTZLEY

"I love when students have an 'aha-moment,' especially when something has been challenging to them and they then get it! I also enjoy getting to know so many different students and learning from them as well as them learning from me!

MRS. ERDELY

Skills in teaching and in outdoor archery.

Spending time outdoors is Mr. Dziedzic's way to spend his time with family and to unwind after teaching in the Social Studies department. "I enjoy camping, backpacking, paddle sports [and} traditional archery," Dziedzic said.

With a variety of types of archery, Dziedzic prefers the traditional approach. "Traditional archery is my favorite passion at this time...I do medieval archery, so we only use bare bows and wooden arrows," Dziedzic said.

Part of the fun is spending time with family. "I enjoy going with my daughter to medieval archery tournaments," Dziedzic said. "We wear period appropriate garb and enjoy competing in character. The sport combines my love of history and being in nature, and I get to share it with my daughter." Story By: Alethia Brown. Photo By: Katarina Day

Nicole Fornadel

A different sort of creative expression.

As an art teacher, Nicole Fornadel is a creative person. However, Fornadel has creative interests beyond what she teaches. "One of my hobbies is interior design and transforming spaces," Fornadel said. "I love being creative and doing interior design has fulfilled that for me in a different way than photography or painting. It's sort of fun to live within a design you create."

Fornadel is asked to use this talent for others. "Lots of friends and family members reach out to me to help them decorate and design spaces..." Fornadel said. "Right now, I've been working on a project to renovate and decorate a vacation house for my sister-in-law in Palm Springs. It's a really fun project because mid-century modern is a popular design style out there so it's a little different than what I do around here. I've completely redone my house so I'm always happy to help others." Story By: Alethia Brown. Photo By: Katarina Day

Joe Phillips

Mr. Phillips just earned his amateur radio license.

It might not be the forefront of hobbies, but for Joe Phillips, the intricacies of radio has become a passion. "Amateur radio became popular when morse operators and radar engineers returned from WWII," Phillips said. "It was taught in schools as a way to promote science literacy. I became interested because it is a framework to learn electronics and circuitry. I just passed my technician exam in April, which enables me to transmit to other HAM radio enthusiasts all over the world."

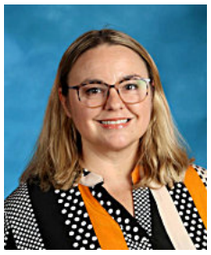

The time spent on the radio is an opportunity for Phillips to relax. "Hobbies for me are an escape from a stressful job," Phillips said. "I like to learn new hobbies because I am a lifelong learner... HAM radio is particularly interesting to me because it has many facets, like radio astronomy, propagation of signals off celestial objects and volunteer emergency communications."

Beth Meadows

Music is more than a passing hobby for Meadows.

While some teachers spend their time grading, Beth Meadows is heading to concerts. "I love live music. I try to go to a few concerts a year," Meadows said. "My taste in music is pretty eclectic; from 90s grunge to country to Ed Sheeran."

Live music is the key component for Meadows. "To me, there is nothing better than live music..." Meadows said. "I love the collective energy of a crowd -dancing, singing along, all in sync with a group of total strangers. It's more than just hearing the music; you feel it in your body."

This passion started in high school when Meadows was in marching band. "I was in the color guard, but I loved being in the band room during rehearsals," Meadows said. "The sound would fill the entire space—you couldn't escape it. It was all-encompassing, almost like being wrapped up in the music... I think it's a big part of why live music still moves me so deeply."

Q&A With SPHS Faculty and Staff

What advice would you give to the class of 2025?

"GO out into the world and DO BIG THINGS! Go and TRY! Even if you fail, you will GROW!"

MRS. HALLORAN COTTON

"Meet as many new people as you can, do as many new things as you can, be brave, be kind, work hard and have fun."

SOPHIE AUCHINCLOSS

"Be BOLD! Be brave, step outside your comfort zone, try something new, and savor every day."

MRS. POOLE

"Step outside your comfort zone as often as you can. You will never know your real limitations until you have pushed them. Don't forget to view others with compassion. You never know what someone is experiencing. BE NICE! Your focus for the future: Progress over perfection."

MS. SARA B. SMITH

"Be bold in your pursuit of growth and embrace the journey, not just the destination. Take risks, embrace failure as a learning tool, and build meaningful connections. Stay curious—your education doesn't end with graduation—and always be true to yourself. Boldness comes from standing firm in your values and dreams. You have the power to shape your future, so trust the path ahead!"

ROXANNE ANGERER

"Take chances, say yes to challenges, and always be willing and ready to learn from others!"

What do you enjoy most about being an educator (or being in education) and why?

"I really enjoy the "people" component of this role. As an administrator we get to work with a wide variety of humans and I really enjoy getting to know people on a human level and working collaboratively with a wide variety of people to make the lives of our students better here at SPHS."

MS. STAKEM

"I enjoy seeing those 'A-HA' moments with my students that help grow their confidence in taking on new challenges that previously seemed impossible."

MR. CAHOON

"I most enjoy working with the students and the staff at SPHS."

MS. DOUCETTE

"Helping students be successful."

STEVE GORRICK

"I love being able to help students gain the "soft skills" they will need to transition into young adulthood. Helping students develop/improve organizational strategies, study skills, time management and self-advocacy is my favorite part of my job."

STACI CASSARINO

"The kids."

HEATHER ALLAM

"Understanding the grades do not define intelligence."

MRS. LEAH MARKS

"Seeing my students grow into young adults over a four year period. Watching them gain the skills to be a successful adult."

NICK BARRETT

"Helping students be the best versions of themselves."

MR. BERNSTEIN

"I enjoy the students. They are the best."

MRS. WESS

"I really enjoy meeting new faces every year! Also, connecting with students helps me feel young."

MR. HARING

"Making a (hopefully) positive impact."

MRS. TAYLOR

"Watching and hearing when the lightbulb goes on in a student's performance."

MR. KILBY

"Getting to interact with students on a daily basis."

MRS. FITZGERALD

"Seeing the light bulb come on for students."

MR. T. DUNBAR

"I love the students! "

MRS. JULIE LOWMAN

"Seeing the growth and maturity over the four years I work with them."

MISS CHELSEA SINGER

"Giving back to the community that I grew up in."

COACH BUCK

"As an educator, watching students discover their potential and develop a love for learning is incredibly rewarding. Helping students explore the many college and career options that are available to them is also something that I am fortunate to be a part of. As a coach, building relationships with my players and helping them navigate challenges fosters a strong sense of community and camaraderie. I love when they come back to visit and share their experiences with myself, my coaching staff and current players. It is inspiring!"

Dear Class of 2025,

Serving as your principal during this milestone year has been an absolute honor. This was my first year in this role, and I could not have asked for a better group of students to share this journey with. Each of you brings a unique energy, talent, and perspective, making our school a vibrant and welcoming place for all.

Your commitment to excellence—in academics, athletics, the arts, and leadership—has set a powerful example for those who will follow in your footsteps. But beyond your achievements, your kindness, resilience, and dedication to uplifting one another truly define the legacy you will leave behind. The way you support your peers, engage in meaningful conversations, and strive to make our school a better place is inspiring.

As you relish the final days of your high school career, I encourage you to embrace every moment, continue to push boundaries, and never stop believing in the impact you can make. The world beyond these walls is waiting for your brilliance, and I do not doubt that each of you will go on to achieve incredible things.

Thank you for allowing me to be part of your journey. I look forward to celebrating all your successes, and I hope you look back on this year with fond memories.

With pride and gratitude,

Mr. Johnson
Principal
Severna Park High School

Congratulations!!

You have worked hard to get to this point, and you should be proud of yourselves. As you go out into the world, I encourage you to spread your wings – try new things, take risks, travel, learn and explore. Be proud of yourselves, work hard, and never settle for less than what your potential is. You are going to do amazing things, and I am so proud of you!! Always remember to be kind, to laugh and you are loved! Thank you for allowing me to be part of your journey.

Ms. Hendler

Be proud of yourself Naomi.
Be kind, be authentic, be adventurous!
This is only the beginning...
THE BEST IS YET TO COME

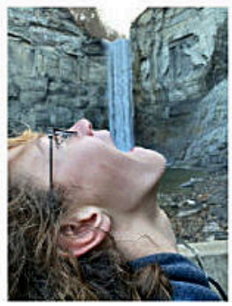

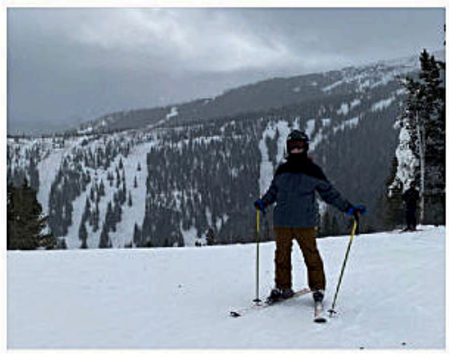

PETER JUDGE

You epitomize what it is to be strong, courageous and resilient. You are a wonderful young man, and I couldn't be prouder of you!! Follow your dreams and know that we love you very much. Mom, Alex, and Sophie.

Congratulations Ryan! We are so proud of the kind, thoughtful, and intelligent young man that you have become. We can't wait to see what the future brings.

Love,

Dad, Mom, and Ella

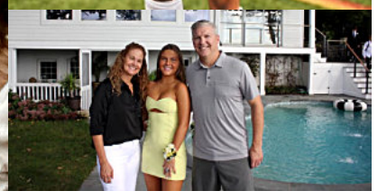

Congratulations Keira!

We are so proud of you and your hard work, both in school and athletics! We wish you so much happiness and success in your next adventure at Rollins and the future!
All our love, Mom, Dad and Delanie

For Good

I've heard it said
That people come into our lives
For a reason
Bringing something we must learn
And we are led to those
Who help us most to grow if we let them
And we help them in return
Well, I don't know if I believe that's true
But I know who I am today
Because I knew you

Like a comet pulled from orbit
As it passes the sun
Like a stream that meets a boulder
Halfway through the wood
Who can say if I've been changed for the better
But because I knew you
I have been changed for good

~ Wicked the Musical

May all the 2025 graduates start their new adventures in life surrounded by joy, laughter, and friendship.

SYDNEY DAY

Sydney,

You have already made us so proud with how hard you've worked to make your dreams come true. You are beautiful, kind, funny and full of life. We cannot wait to watch you play field hockey at Vassar College and continue to shine in everything you do. You never cease to amaze us! Continue to work hard and have fun. If your mind can conceive it, if your heart can believe it, then you can achieve it!

Love you more than infinity,

Editorial Policy

Student editors decide what is newsworthy and will be covered in the yearbook. The adviser will advise, not decide, what should be in the publications. As a student run publication, students decide content and edit content. Only those items which lack merit or proper research will be held from being printed. The purpose of the publication is to record accurately the events which occur during the school year, whether positive or negative. As a historical document, we must adhere to journalistic standards of ethics regarding reporting and the collection of material. The staff will not alter or change student quotes. The only exception is the use of profanity, threats to another individual or lewd language. For a senior to be included in the senior section of the yearbook, he/she/they must turn in his/her/their senior profile by the given deadline and must have a photo taken. Editors reserve the right to edit or cut senior quotes/activities if in violation of the same standards as quotes. Embers is not a public relations device for the district, nor should it be a mouthpiece for the administration of its official policy. The publications will obey any policies of the district as long as they don't violate the concepts of journalistic integrity and the freedom of the press - long standing pillars of American democracy - and under the protection of the New Voices of Maryland Act, supporting student publications with First Amendment rights, and AACPS County Policy JCB-RA.

Publishing Information

The yearbook was made on Jostens Desktop Publishing through YearbookAvenue, with Photoshop used to fix photos, Google forms to conduct surveys, Google documents to write and edit all stories and captions, and ProCreate to design the cover. The volume was published by Jostens Printing and Publishing Company in the Clarksville, Tennessee plant. Jostens Account Representative Steve Sweet served as the liaison between Severna Park and Jostens, giving advice and information regarding price for the cover and pages. Dee Skeleton served as Jostens Publishing Consultant and helped with finalizing pages, specifically working out issues with various pages. Portraits were taken by Legacy Studios. Sports team photos by Chris Fincham, club photos by editors Jonah Darcy, Katarina Day and Emma Rogers.

Advertising Policy

All advertising must meet district guidelines for obscene or offensive material. All copy, text and art will be judged by these standards. The publications reserve the right to refuse any ad that is libelous, illegal, obscene, irresponsible, inappropriate or in poor taste. The publications may limit the number of type styles offered to ad customers and set guidelines for format and style. Any student, parent, staff member or organization will be allowed to purchase ads, as long as they adhere to the deadlines put into place by our publication production schedule.

Cover and Layouts

The yearbook theme BOLD. was envisioned by editor in chiefs Alethia Brown and Cole Christesen in the summer of 2024. That vision was executed by layout editor Ruby Howland, who took their original idea and designed the yearbook cover and most of the design elements found in this yearbook - from vision board to reality.

Special Thanks

Thanks to adviser Valerie Earhart, principal Nathan Johnson, Larissa Torreyson and financial secretary Nicole Koester. Additionally the editors would like to thank the staff members for their contributions towards gathering photos and quotes, as well as writing stories and captions. Mrs. Earhart would like to give a special thanks to her family: Lonny, Madelynne, Elliott and Camdyn.

Alethia Brown

I'm grateful for many opportunities in yearbook, but my favorite has been working with these people. Thank you Cole for being a fantastic co-EIC; this could not have happened without you. Thank you Katarina for working hard and always being willing to step up. Thank you Emma for handling the chaos of sports photos. Thank you Ruby for being an awesome designer. Thank you Abby for being such an enthusiastic and helpful Layout Editor. Thank you Fran for being an amazing addition to our team; I'm glad you joined us. Thank you Sadie for managing the business and social side of things. Thank you Viviana for managing all things clubs. Thank you Jonah for working hard, even on things that weren't your job. Thank you Sam for your work first semester. Thank you Mrs. Earhart for bringing me to yearbook and being the best adviser and mentor I could ask for. Thank you to the staff for helping make this book what it is in so many ways. And thank you to my family and friends for putting up with me when I was working on yearbook, talking about yearbook, thinking about yearbook, asking for help with yearbook... you get the picture.

Layout Editor

Francesca Gelfand

Thank you so much to the entire editorial and staff team! Your patience and help this year have taught me so much about all that it takes to make a yearbook. Thank you to Mrs. Earhart for allowing me to be a part of a class that is so different from any other class I've taken, and thank you for having faith in your EICs and all of your students, always! You have been the best adviser I could ask for. I feel so lucky to have had the opportunity to be a part of it all! Endless thank yous for everything!

Layout Editor

Abby Jeffers

Being an editor was a very unique experience. I loved getting to put content into the yearbook, and it was really fun looking through photos that were sent in. Being a Layout Editor was a challenge at some times! I would like to thank Jonah and Ruby for helping me with my pages and making the New York trip so much fun. Also, thank you Cole and Alethia for being great EICs! Also, thanks for the staff for being excited to work on the book. I am grateful I could be part of yearbook and make a good book.

I would first like to extend my thanks to my fantastic Co-Editor-in-Chief, Alethia, I have said that this is a job that would be impossible to do alone and that is 100% the truth, I really appreciate everything you've put into this book. The next person I'd like to thank is our Adviser, Mrs. Earhart, throughout the three years I've worked on this book she's always been willing to help with anything, while also keeping this a student run publication, which is a difficult balance to strike. Beyond that, I would like to thank our amazing team of editors, this book wouldn't exist without every one of you and you all bring such unique skills to the table, I've loved getting to know you over the last few years. Last, but not least I'd like to thank our staff, all of you are so hardworking and dedicated to this publication, I hope many of you become editors next year.

Cole Christesen

Editor-in-Chief

This year has been an amazing experience I never really thought I'd ever have. I joined yearbook last year on accident due to scheduling mishaps and fell in love with the community and how fulfilling it was to see my work in the book. Thank you to Abby for being my entertainment, to Alethia for keeping me in check when I constantly forgot tasks, to Kat for being a great friend and to everyone else for letting me into this wonderful community. I'd also like to thank Mrs. Earhart for giving me the chance to dip my feet into graphic design, something I definitely would have never done otherwise.

Ruby Howland

Layout & Design Editor

Thank you so much to Mrs. Earhart for being the best teacher out there, and giving me opportunities I never would've sought out if it wasn't for her. I've enjoyed my time as the Business and Social Media Editor, and I'm so thankful for all of my fellow editors for making this year so much fun! Thank you to Vivi and Emma for all of the good laughs and memories. I will never forget laughing in the hotel room all night long, and shopping for hours in Soho. Yearbook will forever be my favorite class, and I am grateful for everything I've learned and the many experiences I was apart of this year!

Thank you to all my fellow editors for making my senior year yearbook experience so special. I would specifically like to shout out Kat, Sadie and Viv for never failing to make me laugh and making the best memories for the NYC trip this year. And to Mrs. Earhart, thank you for being the best adviser I could ever ask for and making my high school experience ten times more enjoyable. Also, thank you to Brendan Dennis for dragging me around sophomore year to learn how to use the camera, Mark, and gain a new passion for photography. Yearbook has been one of my favorite parts of high school, and I have made memories that I'll never forget!

Katarina Day

Photo Editor

This is my third year on yearbook, second year as photo editor. I am so grateful to have been a part of Embers for this long in my high school career, but it wouldn't mean anything without the people who made and continue to make the class worthwhile. Alethia, Cole, Emma and I are the last of a class that had about twelve people in it, which has now grown to include more than thirty. My sister Brynn was a senior editor in that same class and pushed me to join, for which I am forever grateful. Thank you to all of our current editors, and Mrs. Earhart for making this year amazing, and I can't wait to come back for my final year next year.

Photo Editor

Jonah Darcy

This is my first year being a editor and it has been a really fun experience. Thank you to all the staff that helped me to get photos, especially the photo team Julia, Mackenzie, Georgia, Lucy, Megan and the photo team leaders Ghost and Mimi. Thank you to Cole and Alethia for picking me to be a photo editor. Also thank you Mrs. Earhart for being the best advisor ever and making yearbook so much fun! Thank you Abby and Mimi for making the NYC trip the best school trip ever. I will never forget the memories that were made in yearbook this year.

Viviana Willis

Clubs Editor

Yearbook has allowed me opportunities I could have never imagined. Our countless field trips as well as our awesome activities and parties throughout the year gave me the chance to make many new friendships and relationships with my peers. I would like to thank Mrs. Earhart for making this year so enjoyable and helping me learn more about design elements within this publication. I'd like to thank Cole and Alethia for doing their best to support me and ensure that I had everything I needed to successfully manage club coverage. Lastly, I would love to thank Emma, Sadie, and Kat as we became such great friends this year working on projects together, walking the streets of NYC, taking classes together at J-Day, and our countless laughs that definitely could be heard across the room.

Thank you so much to everyone this year, I loved working with you all and a huge thank you to Mrs. Earhart and the whole editorial team! I know I wasn't there the whole year, but I'm so grateful I still got the chance to be part of something this cool. You're all insanely talented, and it was such a great experience getting to work with you—even for a little while. Thanks for being so welcoming and for making this such a fun and creative space to be part of!

This is my 25th book at SPHS – 25 years of working with phenomenal editors and staff, 25 years of Yearbook being my favorite class. I want to thank Alethia and Cole – you two worked so hard on this book, and it shows. To the editors - Abby, Emma, Fran, Kat, Jonah, Ruby, Sadie, Sam and Vivianna it is because of students like yourselves that I get excited about the next yearbook – the next team. Thank you for your time and dedication to this publication. As always, I want to thank my family. This has been a journey of 25 yearbooks and 25 years of distraction at times from the most important people. You will always be my heart: Lonny, Madelynne, Elliott and Camdyn. Here is to 26 and counting...

The class of 2025 tosses their caps after receiving their diplomas. Graduation was held at 6 p.m. on June 3 at Live! Casino with thousands of attendees including friends, family and of course, the graduates. "Graduation was good. I'm glad to finally be done with high school and moving towards the next step," Luke Crabill '25 said. Photo By: Katarina Day

It's hard to go against the grain.

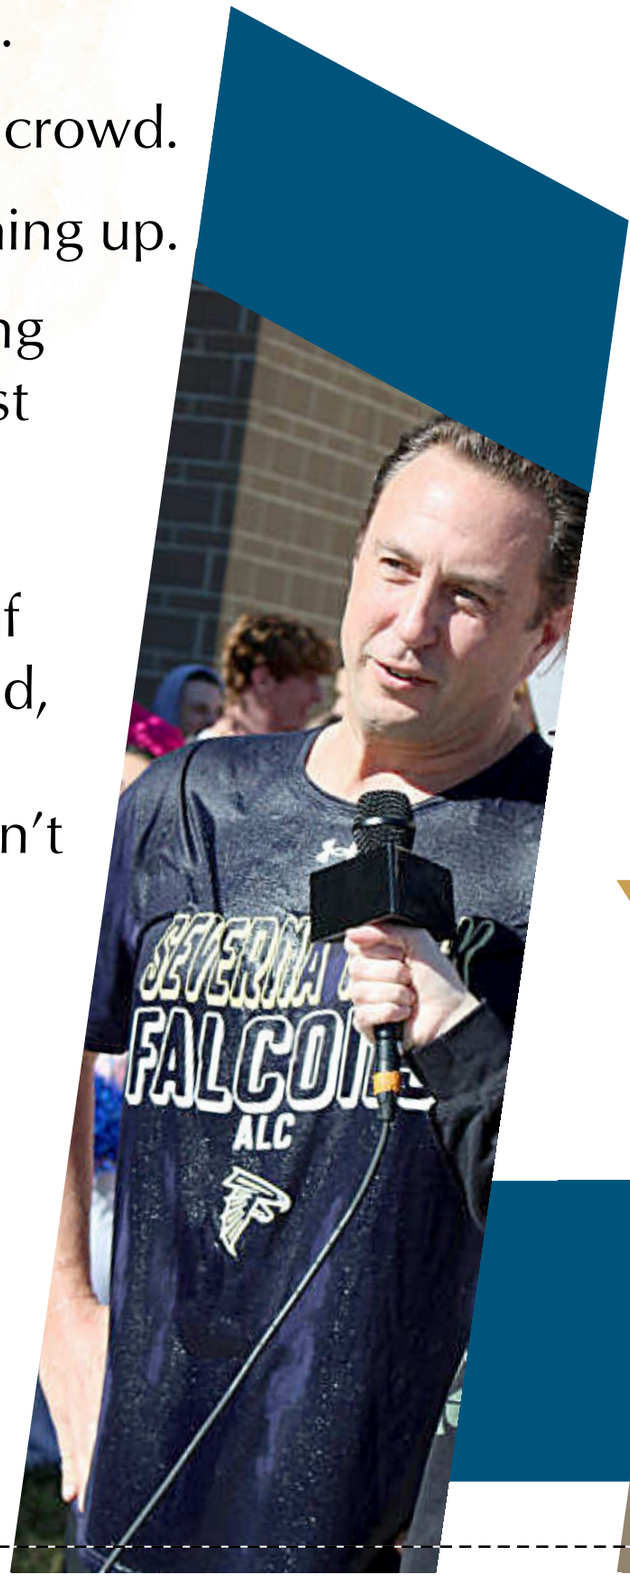

It's a risk to stand out from the crowd.

It's a chance to change something up.

But usually the most intimidating circumstances are also the most incredible opportunities. It's important to do things even if you don't like them, and even if you're afraid of them. In the end, growth is more important than remaining comfortable. It doesn't often pay to play it safe.

So in the small steps and the giant leaps, we'll choose to be BOLD.
